All Arms Production May End Soon, Report

Full-Phase Stoppage Is Predicted

Situation Seen Beyond Non-Delivery of Any Finished Weapons as Such

Shortages Appear

One of Major Items Now Low in Supply Is Mortar Shells

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Industry and the military say the nation's arms production—everything from jet engines to atom bombs and nuclear submarines—will come to a virtual halt within a few weeks, if the steel strike continues.

A survey of manufacturers and defense experts today showed that in general enough steel is on hand to eke out production until some time in August, but that in some instances the impact of the steel production stoppage already is being felt.

The situation goes beyond the non-delivery of finished weapons themselves. If the hard steels needed for tools can't be had, the weapons can't be made. The effect of that can be far-reaching.

Secretary of Defense Lovett, calling the potential effect of the strike very serious, already has moved to get into arms production channels the comparatively small amounts of steel production and finished steel still available.

Orders Are Telegraphed

The action was to get steel out of warehouses and into weapons-making plants. The CIO Steelworkers Union headquarters at Pittsburgh telegraphed orders last night to pass such defense materials through picket lines.

The Defense Department has requested contractors to shift steel orders to non-struck plants. There aren't many of these.

But the department expects both measures to produce only minute amounts of steel compared with the vast tonnages needed.

Lt. Gen. E. W. Rawlings, commanding general of the air materiel command, said last night the strike has not greatly affected military aircraft production to date.

He added in a statement, however, that "if the strike lasts long enough there are certain to be gaps in the pipeline" of supplies and "obviously, aircraft production will be affected."

Shortages Are Noted

Shortages in ammunition already are appearing. One of the major items in this category is the 4.2-inch mortar shell. Even in the present stalemated phase of the Korean war thousands of these shells may be used in a single day. Each shell contains about 25 pounds of steel.

The navy says that, although there is steel available in shipyards and work can progress in certain areas, lack of special types of steel for certain parts of a new or converted ship can stop construction.

The hull of the new atomic submarine is being built at the General Dynamics Corporation's Groton, Conn., plant. If enough steel isn't accumulated by August, construction will be delayed, says the navy.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) is a heavy user of almost all types of steel. Huge quantities of structural steel are on order for the new Savannah river and Paduch AEC plants, in addition to several other smaller projects. Large tonnages of stainless steel are used in the processing of the raw materials which go into the manufacture of atomic bombs and nuclear power plants, like the two being built for submarines.

Manhattan Bridge Frames Brooklyn Fire

Flames race through an unoccupied coal chute and coal hopper on the Brooklyn waterfront only yards from the Manhattan bridge over the East river. Four tugs equipped with fire fighting apparatus, city firemen and thundershowers cooperated to bring the blaze under control. Picture was made from a building near the East river in downtown Manhattan.

Bill Would Give Vote to Service Folk

Washington, June 20 (AP)—A bill designed to assure everybody in the armed services old enough to vote a chance to ballot in this year's presidential election came before the Senate today.

Senate sponsors of the bill say it is needed because absentee voting laws in more than half of the states are inadequate.

The bill would authorize use of a federally printed and distributed ballot by members of the armed services from states whose election laws (1) do not allow absentee voting, (2) require personal registration; (3) do not accept federal government-supplied postcard application for absentee ballots; or (4) do not allow 45 days between mailing and counting of absentee ballots.

Brees Will Address GOP Convention In City June 28

State Senator Is Chosen for Event at Local Auditorium at 11 A.M.

State Senator Orlo M. Brees of Broome county will be the main speaker at the unofficial Republican County Convention to be held at the municipal auditorium on Saturday, June 28 at 11 a. m.

The convention serves to recommend candidates for nomination by the party for the November election. It has unofficial status because nominations do not become final until approved at the Primary Election.

Only three county officers are scheduled to be elected this year: county treasurer, district attorney and coroner.

To Hold Caucuses

Delegates to the Republican convention will be selected at city and county caucuses tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The agenda for the county convention is being drawn up by Robert A. Snyder, secretary of the county Republican Central Committee, who was out of town today and could not be contacted for details.

Senator Brees, the guest speaker, is noted as an author, lecturer, poet and former newspaper editor. He was elected to the Assembly in 1940, where he was active on behalf of public welfare reforms and public education. He has since been elected to the upper house of the Legislature.

Occupational Hazard

Arranging Survey Of Labor to Draw Industry to City

Chamber of Commerce Has Questionnaire Ready to Mail in Area

A survey of available local labor is planned with intention of attracting to Kingston a large industry employing a sizeable force, predominantly men.

Announcement of the survey came from President Lawrence J. MacAvery of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

MacAvery said a questionnaire is to be mailed within the next week to most residents within a 10-mile radius of Kingston.

The availability of a sufficient supply of labor may be the determining factor when a final selection is made between Kingston and sites in other states, which are being considered, the president of the Chamber of Commerce said.

MacAvery added that collaborating with his office is the New York State Department of Commerce.

A Leading Industry

Dale Swartzmiller, Kingston regional manager for the department, said of the move to bring about industrial development through the survey:

"The firm, which is one of the leading industries in the country, is contemplating the purchase of a tract of land and the erection of a modern, clean factory building with operations probably starting within the next year or two."

MacAvery stressed the importance for immediate response to the labor survey questionnaire and the cooperation of all those receiving the forms.

Some Questions

He said the questions are directed generally to those who are not working or are working outside the Kingston area.

Some of the questions asked:

Are you now employed?

How many in your family would be interested in a job in Kingston?

How far is your residence from Kingston?

At what trades are you skilled and for how long have you worked at them?

Asks Quick Return

MacAvery stresses the importance of filling out the papers and returning them immediately to the Chamber of Commerce.

13th Barge Launched By Island Dock Firm

Island Dock Inc., today launched the 13th of the 21 steel deck cargo barges it contracted to build for the U. S. Army under Navy supervision.

The barge, designated at BC6160, is the 10th of the 110-foot type, to be launched since Jan. 1. The ferry recently launched brings the total craft completed since the first of the year to 14.

The launching today was sponsored by Marie Heins, of 20 Lindsley avenue, a local high school graduate, and daughter of E. L. Heins, storekeeper at Island Dock.

May Buy Planes

Washington, June 20 (AP)—The United States announced today it is considering buying airplanes from European member nations of North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The plan would involve use of U. S. mutual security funds to buy planes directly from European makers, chiefly for use by European nations—instead of sending aid in the form of U. S. planes.

Two More Incendiary Fires Occur In Brooklyn Houses

Seymour Is Held For Grand Jury

Preliminary Hearing Held Before City Judge; Has Prior Record

Wilfred Seymour, 29, of Poughkeepsie, charged with abducting a 12-year-old girl from her Van-Buren street home, was held for the grand jury following preliminary hearing before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Authorities charge that Seymour, who was arrested early Tuesday, had taken the child from her home on the pretense that he was a friend of the family. District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn said it is alleged on statements and information that the child was molested.

Attorney Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appeared for the defendant and John Larkin for the district attorney's office.

Arrested in Tacoma

Police revealed recently that Seymour had been arrested in Tacoma, Wash., in 1943 on a rape charge, that he was charged with housebreaking in Washington, D. C., some time ago, and more recently was involved in trouble in Poughkeepsie resulting in the demotion of Detective William Owen of that city.

A Poughkeepsie source said that last February Seymour was arrested on a public intoxication charge, and during the arrest the coat of Detective Owens was torn.

It was reported that a payment of $10 for the damage to the coat was made to the detective. An investigation was made and Owens was demoted to the rank of patrolman.

Fishing Boat Sinks

Provincetown, Mass., June 20 (AP)—The loaded fishing boat Albatross, returning to Boston, was sunk in collision with the tanker Esso Chattanooga in the early morning darkness today and the Albatross' captain was reported missing. The Chattanooga reported she had picked up 12 of the 13-man crew of the fishing craft but had found no trace of Captain Bjorguen Enarsson of Arlington, Mass. The accident occurred three miles east of Cape Cod light. The night was described as clear, with a fresh wind blowing.

Both Originate in Baby Carriages in Halls —Woman to Be Arraigned

New York, June 20 (AP)—Two more pre-dawn incendiary fires were discovered today in Brooklyn multiple-family dwellings in the same vicinity where seven persons died in a tenement house fire Wednesday.

Both fires started in baby carriages in hallways and were extinguished quickly without serious damage.

The new fire broke out while Mrs. Bessie Honig, 56, owner of the tenement, awaited arraignment on a manslaughter charge for alleged negligence in failing to provide fire escapes. She faces a possible 15-year prison term.

Punctured Lungs Killed Child, Is Autopsy Finding

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly said today an autopsy showed that the six-year-old girl who was fatally injured at Broadway and Cedar street Wednesday, had died of fractured ribs which punctured the lungs.

The coroner also said he had been informed that the child's name was Barbara Ann Lewis and not Tyler as was first announced. Local police were also notified at 2 p. m., yesterday that the child's name was Lewis and her father whose address was given as Fleischmann's Heights, was notified through the state police at Margaretville.

Police reported following the mishap Wednesday that the child was struck by a car operated by Anthony J. Perry, of 84 Hoffman street, who, the report said, had stopped for a light, and after starting did not know his car came in contact with the child until someone shouted at him. He took the child to the hospital where she died about three hours after the accident.

Coroner Kelly gave the verdict of accidental death.

Would End Controls

Washington, June 20 (AP)—The House today voted to end price controls on virtually all consumer goods. The vote was subject to reconsideration. By a vote of 146 to 88, the House decided there should be no price controls on items which are not rationed or allocated. Controls also would be lifted on items which have been selling at below ceiling prices for at least three months. At present no good are rationed, and only a few metals are being allocated. The effect of the amendment, if it remains in the bill, would be to remove just about all price controls or force the Office of Price Stabilization to order rationing of things it wants kept under price ceilings.

Jet Plant Strike Grows

Cincinnati, June 20 (AP)—The shutdown of General Electric's huge jet engine plant here tightened today. The strike of 900 machinists spread as 3,000 CIO United Automobile Workers voted late yesterday to make their work stoppage a strike, effective at 7 a. m. today. The automobile workers refused yesterday to pass the machinists' picket lines. The strike, affecting approximately 10,000 workers, has halted production of approximately half of the nation's output of jet engines for fighter planes.

Monroe Woman Killed

Southfields, N. J., June 20 (AP)—Mrs. Arthur Kabinoff, 28, Monroe, N. Y., was injured fatally near here yesterday when her car and a truck-trailer collided during a rainstorm. Her 2-year-old son, Calvin, was injured seriously. Police said the accident occurred when the truck driver, Chester Mocelnicke, 37, Stamford, Conn., jammed on his brakes to avoid hitting an auto that pulled in front of the truck. The big vehicle jackknifed head-on into the Kabinoff car. Mocelnicke was not hurt.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 20 (AP)—The position of the treasury June 18: Net budget receipts $946,827,925.61. Budget expenditures $271,288,220.86. Cash balance $5,251,477,846.26. Customs receipts for month $28,486,869.38. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $56,268,218,460.58. Budget expenditures fiscal year $63,065,366,939.63. Budget deficit $6,797,148,479.05. Total debt $259,624,657,501.90. Decrease under previous day $216,463,902.57. Gold assets $23,296,979,214.36.

Taft Says General 'At Sea' on Foreign, Domestic Issues

Senator Assails 'Me-Too' and 'New Deal' Type of Republican Politics

New York, June 20 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft blasted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on domestic and foreign issues last night, scorned a "me-too" type of presidential campaign and lambasted "New Deal" Republicanism.

In a nationally televised program, "Answer to Abilene," Taft spoke out on vital issues while taking verbal potshots at Eisenhower, his chief contender for the GOP presidential nomination.

Taft claimed he has gained in both popular and convention delegate strength since Eisenhower came home from Europe. Concerning delegates, he said, "I can't find a single one that Gen. Eisenhower's gained."

Has Gained, He Says

Taft said he has gained "56 or so" delegates since the general returned to the U. S. The program's moderator, actor Ward Bond, claimed 588 delegates for Taft, only 16 short of a majority on the first ballot. The latest Associated Press tabulation of delegate pledges gives Taft 466 and Eisenhower 393.

Taft accused Eisenhower of being ill-informed on, not understanding, or shifting his views on several issues—particularly reduction of government expenditures.

"I think the general has gone back on the 40 billion tax cut," said Taft. "• • • I don't think he could have meant that, because • • • you couldn't have any armed forces at all, unless you have complete disarmament, with any such tax cut."

(Eisenhower was variously quoted in New York a week ago both as saying he favored a 40 billion dollar tax cut and a 40 billion dollar budget cut over several years. In Denver last night the general said he had referred to a cut of 30 to 40 billions in the federal budget—not in taxes.)

Would End Controls

The Ohio senator urged an immediate end to price controls, repudiation of Truman administration foreign policies, gradual elimination of the draft, continuation of farm price supports with qualifications, and a personal platform stressing individual liberty.

If elected president, he promised, he would balance the budget during his first year in office.

The program was televised by the National Broadcasting Company, the American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, from 6-6:30 p. m. (EST) from the CBS TV theatre on Broadway.

All principals were carefully rehearsed for more than an hour before the telecast time. The "Answer to Abilene" title referred to Eisenhower's speech and news conference televised

Apple Orchards Suffer From Hail

Accord and New Paltz Get No Pellets, Only Bit of Rain

A localized hailstorm cut a narrow path through Ulster county from Highland through Kingston shortly before noon on Thursday, causing heavy damage in some apple orchards, but leaving the majority of county farms unscathed.

Fruit growers along Route 9W from Highland through Esopus and Ulster Park told the Ulster County Farm Bureau this morning that their apples suffered from the hailstorm. But growers contacted in Wallkill, Milton and Marlborough reported little or no damage, and at Accord and New Paltz it was reported there was no hail and just a trace of rain.

Slight Hail Reported

Vegetable growers along the Onteora trail just west of Kingston reported slight hail Thursday, but said they suffered a more damaging hailstorm the previous night. Tomatoes and lettuce received the most damage, they said, and some other crops were "knocked down," and it was too early this morning to determine exactly how badly they were damaged.

Other reports gathered by William H. Palmer and Robert Guzewich, county agricultural agents, indicated that Tuesday's rain

Chief Van Buren, Others on Police Force Are Named for New Bureau

City Judge Raymond J. Mino announced today that he had appointed Police Chief Raymond VanBuren and the lieutenants and sergeants of the local police department as the city's Traffic Violations Bureau.

The appointment, he said, was made in compliance with provisions of an ordinance authorizing the bureau to dispose of all traffic infractions as distinguished from misdemeanors and excluding charges of speeding in a new department that will expedite procedure.

The new ordinance eliminates the inconvenience of making an appearance at police headquarters for booking after an arrest for a traffic violation. This spares the public trouble and embarrassment after such arrests and is less consuming on the time of officers charged with enforcement of all laws, Judge Mino said.

Will Operate 24 Hours

Appointment of the police chief and the other police officers to dispose of the majority of traffic violations means that the bureau will be in operation for 24 hours because there is always a ranking officer on duty at police headquarters.

New traffic tickets will be distributed to the police in compliance with the new system and the police officials who will be in charge of the bureau were

General Will Be in Midst Of Two-Gun Texas Warfare

(For weeks, Texas has been seething with strife between the supporters of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft. The question is: Whose delegates are entitled to represent the Lone Star state at the GOP National Convention, July 7? Two rival slates have come into being. This is one of the most explosive and intriguing developments of this red-hot election year. The result may be a decisive factor in the GOP nomination for the presidency. In view of its importance, Dave Cheavens, veteran GOP capital correspondent at Austin has written the following story, explaining how and why the argument came into being.)

By DAVE CHEAVENS

Austin, Tex., June 20—It's two-gun Texas political warfare in rugged frontier style that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower steps into tomorrow when he visits his birthplace at Denison, on the Red River.

It's a showdown between old guard Republicans, who inherited the political dynasty of the late Rene B. Creager, and a well-organized band of GOP newcomers, who say they want to put some new life into the old party.

That's what it amounts to from the strictly Texas viewpoint.

Nationally, however, Texas' 38 convention votes could well be the key to winning the Republican nomination.

Thirty of the old guard's convention delegates are known to be for Sen. Taft, four for Eisenhower, and four for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Thirty-three of the rival delegation are instructed for Eisenhower and five are instructed for Taft.

Delegations Appear

The two opposing delegations appeared after the battle at Mineral Wells May 27, each charging the other with illegal tactics.

In the contests from 24 counties, preceding the Mineral Wells convention, the old guard-dominated state executive committee generally accredited the Taft delegates. It gave two to the Eisenhower people, and split two.

The Eisenhower faction maintained it had majorities and that its conventions were called and held according to state and party law. They said in each case they had taken the declarations of party loyalty, as set up by the state executive committee.

In reply, the Taft people said

Mc Granery Fires Another, Who Denies Any Misconduct

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Attorney General McGranery says the firing of the U. S. district attorney for Kansas is just one step in a methodical housecleaning the Justice Department is conducting "in our own quiet little way."

McGranery, in office only three weeks, announced yesterday that Federal Prosecutor Lester Luther, 63, had been dismissed by President Truman at his request because of evidence the Kansan accepted a $2,000 cut of a $5,000 fee in a pending tax dispute case.

Seated at his desk, fingering a file of photostatic copies of canceled checks and documents, McGranery told newsmen if he finds evidence of any other misconduct he will let the public know about it immediately.

"It will be put right on top of the table," said the new attorney general, who has been given the role of government cleanup chief. "In our own quiet little way, that's how we are going to clean this thing up."

McGranery said a special grand jury will be called promptly at Topeka, Kan., to study evidence Luther shared in fees paid to another federal employe, Nicholas Lopes, for representing the Dolite Company of Toledo in a tax case.

Luther told reporters at his Topeka home that he and Lopes shared in fees from the firm, but denied he had taken any money illegally. He said his dismissal came as a complete surprise.

Lopes, who resigned his job as a trial attorney in the Justice Department's criminal division May 9, would make no comment.

But Luther said the money they received was for giving legal advice in connection with a large construction job—and not for acting in a tax case.

"Such a job is permissible under law and the attorney general's manual (of regulations)," Luther said. "It is regular practice for district attorneys to do jobs like this."

Prior to yesterday's action, McGranery had accepted the resignations of three—exactly one half—of the top aides left over from the regime of Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

To Charge for Baggage

New York, June 20 (AP)—Most major railroads in the east and south, except those in New England, will charge for handling baggage checked on passenger tickets, starting July 1, the Trunk Line Association said today. The baggage car rates will be 50 cents for each trunk or article in the trunk category and 25 cents for hand luggage and other small articles. In addition to the New England lines, some railroads along the lower Mississippi river border will not make the charge. A spokesman said the charges were intended to help reduce deficits in passenger service revenues by defraying the costs of baggage handling.

Bill Would Give Vote to Service Folk

Washington, June 20 (AP)—A bill designed to assure everybody in the armed services old enough to vote a chance to ballot in this year's presidential election came before the Senate today.

Senate sponsors of the bill say it is needed because absentee voting laws in more than half of the states are inadequate.

The bill would authorize use of a federally printed and distributed ballot by members of the armed services from states whose election laws (1) do not allow absentee voting, (2) require personal registration; (3) do not accept federal government-supplied postcard application for absentee ballots; or (4) do not allow 45 days between mailing and counting of absentee ballots.

Mc Granery Fires Another, Who Denies Any Misconduct

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Attorney General McGranery says the firing of the U. S. district attorney for Kansas is just one step in a methodical housecleaning the Justice Department is conducting "in our own quiet little way."

McGranery, in office only three weeks, announced yesterday that Federal Prosecutor Lester Luther, 63, had been dismissed by President Truman at his request because of evidence the Kansan accepted a $2,000 cut of a $5,000 fee in a pending tax dispute case.

Seated at his desk, fingering a file of photostatic copies of canceled checks and documents, McGranery told newsmen if he finds evidence of any other misconduct he will let the public know about it immediately.

"It will be put right on top of the table," said the new attorney general, who has been given the role of government cleanup chief. "In our own quiet little way, that's how we are going to clean this thing up."

McGranery said a special grand jury will be called promptly at Topeka, Kan., to study evidence Luther shared in fees paid to another federal employe, Nicholas Lopes, for representing the Dolite Company of Toledo in a tax case.

Luther told reporters at his Topeka home that he and Lopes shared in fees from the firm, but denied he had taken any money illegally. He said his dismissal came as a complete surprise.

Lopes, who resigned his job as a trial attorney in the Justice Department's criminal division May 9, would make no comment.

But Luther said the money they received was for giving legal advice in connection with a large construction job—and not for acting in a tax case.

"Such a job is permissible under law and the attorney general's manual (of regulations)," Luther said. "It is regular practice for district attorneys to do jobs like this."

Prior to yesterday's action, McGranery had accepted the resignations of three—exactly one half—of the top aides left over from the regime of Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

Brees Will Address GOP Convention In City June 28

State Senator Is Chosen for Event at Local Auditorium at 11 A.M.

State Senator Orlo M. Brees of Broome county will be the main speaker at the unofficial Republican County Convention to be held at the municipal auditorium on Saturday, June 28 at 11 a. m.

The convention serves to recommend candidates for nomination by the party for the November election. It has unofficial status because nominations do not become final until approved at the Primary Election.

Only three county officers are scheduled to be elected this year: county treasurer, district attorney and coroner.

To Hold Caucuses

Delegates to the Republican convention will be selected at city and county caucuses tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The agenda for the county convention is being drawn up by Robert A. Snyder, secretary of the county Republican Central Committee, who was out of town today and could not be contacted for details.

Senator Brees, the guest speaker, is noted as an author, lecturer, poet and former newspaper editor. He was elected to the Assembly in 1940, where he was active on behalf of public welfare reforms and public education. He has since been elected to the upper house of the Legislature.

Would End Controls

Washington, June 20 (AP)—The House today voted to end price controls on virtually all consumer goods. The vote was subject to reconsideration. By a vote of 146 to 88, the House decided there should be no price controls on items which are not rationed or allocated. Controls also would be lifted on items which have been selling at below ceiling prices for at least three months. At present no good are rationed, and only a few metals are being allocated. The effect of the amendment, if it remains in the bill, would be to remove just about all price controls or force the Office of Price Stabilization to order rationing of things it wants kept under price ceilings.

Jet Plant Strike Grows

Cincinnati, June 20 (AP)—The shutdown of General Electric's huge jet engine plant here tightened today. The strike of 900 machinists spread as 3,000 CIO United Automobile Workers voted late yesterday to make their work stoppage a strike, effective at 7 a. m. today. The automobile workers refused yesterday to pass the machinists' picket lines. The strike, affecting approximately 10,000 workers, has halted production of approximately half of the nation's output of jet engines for fighter planes.

Monroe Woman Killed

Southfields, N. J., June 20 (AP)—Mrs. Arthur Kabinoff, 28, Monroe, N. Y., was injured fatally near here yesterday when her car and a truck-trailer collided during a rainstorm. Her 2-year-old son, Calvin, was injured seriously. Police said the accident occurred when the truck driver, Chester Mocelnicke, 37, Stamford, Conn., jammed on his brakes to avoid hitting an auto that pulled in front of the truck. The big vehicle jackknifed head-on into the Kabinoff car. Mocelnicke was not hurt.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 20 (AP)—The position of the treasury June 18: Net budget receipts $946,827,-925.61. Budget expenditures $271,-288,220.86. Cash balance $5,251,-477,846.26. Customs receipts for month $28,486,869.38. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $56,268,-218,460.58. Budget expenditures fiscal year $63,065,366,939.63. Budget deficit $6,797,148,479.05. Taft Says General 'At Sea' on Foreign, Domestic Issues

Senator Assails 'Me-Too' and 'New Deal' Type of Republican Politics

New York, June 20 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft blasted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on domestic and foreign issues last night, scorned a "me-too" type of presidential campaign and lambasted "New Deal" Republicanism.

In a nationally televised program, "Answer to Abilene," Taft spoke out on vital issues while taking verbal potshots at Eisenhower, his chief contender for the GOP presidential nomination.

Taft claimed he has gained in both popular and convention delegate strength since Eisenhower came home from Europe. Concerning delegates, he said, "I can't find a single one that Gen. Eisenhower's gained."

Has Gained, He Says

Taft said he has gained "56 or so" delegates since the general returned to the U. S. The program's moderator, actor Ward Bond, claimed 588 delegates for Taft, only 16 short of a majority on the first ballot. The latest Associated Press tabulation of delegate pledges gives Taft 466 and Eisenhower 393.

Taft accused Eisenhower of being ill-informed on, not understanding, or shifting his views on several issues—particularly reduction of government expenditures.

"I think the general has gone back on the 40 billion tax cut," said Taft. "• • • I don't think he could have meant that, because • • • you couldn't have any armed forces at all, unless you have complete disarmament, with any such tax cut."

(Eisenhower was variously quoted in New York a week ago both as saying he favored a 40 billion dollar tax cut and a 40 billion dollar budget cut over several years. In Denver last night the general said he had referred to a cut of 30 to 40 billions in the federal budget—not in taxes.)

Would End Controls

The Ohio senator urged an immediate end to price controls, repudiation of Truman administration foreign policies, gradual elimination of the draft, continuation of farm price supports with qualifications, and a personal platform stressing individual liberty.

If elected president, he promised, he would balance the budget during his first year in office.

The program was televised by the National Broadcasting Company, the American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, from 6-6:30 p. m. (EST) from the CBS TV theatre on Broadway.

All principals were carefully rehearsed for more than an hour before the telecast time. The "Answer to Abilene" title referred to Eisenhower's speech and news conference televised

Apple Orchards Suffer From Hail

Accord and New Paltz Get No Pellets, Only Bit of Rain

A localized hailstorm cut a narrow path through Ulster county from Highland through Kingston shortly before noon on Thursday, causing heavy damage in some apple orchards, but leaving the majority of county farms unscathed.

Fruit growers along Route 9W from Highland through Esopus and Ulster Park told the Ulster County Farm Bureau this morning that their apples suffered from the hailstorm. But growers contacted in Wallkill, Milton and Marlborough reported little or no damage, and at Accord and New Paltz it was reported there was no hail and just a trace of rain.

Slight Hail Reported

Vegetable growers along the Onteora trail just west of Kingston reported slight hail Thursday, but said they suffered a more damaging hailstorm the previous night. Tomatoes and lettuce received the most damage, they said, and some other crops were "knocked down," and it was too early this morning to determine exactly how badly they were damaged.

Other reports gathered by William H. Palmer and Robert Guzewich, county agricultural agents, indicated that Tuesday's rain

Chief Van Buren, Others on Police Force Are Named for New Bureau

City Judge Raymond J. Mino announced today that he had appointed Police Chief Raymond VanBuren and the lieutenants and sergeants of the local police department as the city's Traffic Violations Bureau.

The appointment, he said, was made in compliance with provisions of an ordinance authorizing the bureau to dispose of all traffic infractions as distinguished from misdemeanors and excluding charges of speeding in a new department that will expedite procedure.

The new ordinance eliminates the inconvenience of making an appearance at police headquarters for booking after an arrest for a traffic violation. This spares the public trouble and embarrassment after such arrests and is less consuming on the time of officers charged with enforcement of all laws, Judge Mino said.

Will Operate 24 Hours

Appointment of the police chief and the other police officers to dispose of the majority of traffic violations means that the bureau will be in operation for 24 hours because there is always a ranking officer on duty at police headquarters.

New traffic tickets will be distributed to the police in compliance with the new system and the police officials who will be in charge of the bureau were

General Will Be in Midst Of Two-Gun Texas Warfare

(For weeks, Texas has been seething with strife between the supporters of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft. The question is: Whose delegates are entitled to represent the Lone Star state at the GOP National Convention, July 7? Two rival slates have come into being. This is one of the most explosive and intriguing developments of this red-hot election year. The result may be a decisive factor in the GOP nomination for the presidency. In view of its importance, Dave Cheavens, veteran GOP capital correspondent at Austin has written the following story, explaining how and why the argument came into being.)

By DAVE CHEAVENS

Austin, Tex., June 20—It's two-gun Texas political warfare in rugged frontier style that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower steps into tomorrow when he visits his birthplace at Denison, on the Red River.

It's a showdown between old guard Republicans, who inherited the political dynasty of the late Rene B. Creager, and a well-organized band of GOP newcomers, who say they want to put some new life into the old party.

That's what it amounts to from the strictly Texas viewpoint.

Nationally, however, Texas' 38 convention votes could well be the key to winning the Republican nomination.

Thirty of the old guard's convention delegates are known to be for Sen. Taft, four for Eisenhower, and four for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Thirty-three of the rival delegation are instructed for Eisenhower and five are instructed for Taft.

Delegations Appear

The two opposing delegations appeared after the battle at Mineral Wells May 27, each charging the other with illegal tactics.

In the contests from 24 counties, preceding the Mineral Wells convention, the old guard-dominated state executive committee generally accredited the Taft delegates. It gave two to the Eisenhower people, and split two.

The Eisenhower faction maintained it had majorities and that its conventions were called and held according to state and party law. They said in each case they had taken the declarations of party loyalty, as set up by the state executive committee.

In reply, the Taft people said

To Charge for Baggage

New York, June 20 (AP)—Most major railroads in the east and south, except those in New England, will charge for handling baggage checked on passenger tickets, starting July 1, the Trunk Line Association said today. The baggage car rates will be 50 cents for each trunk or article in the trunk category and 25 cents for hand luggage and other small articles. In addition to the New England lines, some railroads along the lower Mississippi river border will not make the charge. A spokesman said the charges were intended to help reduce deficits in passenger service revenues by defraying the costs of baggage handling.

Denies Clothes Were Sergeant's

Trenton, N. J., June 20 (AP)—Pvt. Robert L. Williams, 19, of New Paltz, N. Y., today went on the witness stand in Federal Court where he is being tried for murder in the killing of a Fort Dix sergeant.

Williams, under direct examination, identified items of clothing as his own. The government said the clothing belonged to Sgt. Herman Wiener, who was found dead Feb. 3 on his barracks bed. The government said Wiener was beaten to death with a poker.

Williams testified he finished the seventh grade and worked for a while in Poughkeepsie for a veterinarian. He said he enlisted in the army July 11, 1950.

Asked if he were positive the clothing—civilian trousers, shirt and shoes—belonged to him, Williams said "yes." He said he obtained them from a soldier who went overseas, but couldn't remember the soldier's name.

Williams' brother, Floyd, 20, of Elizabeth, N. J., and his sister, Mrs. Florence Proctor, 24, of Poughkeepsie also testified. Floyd said he was picked up by his brother Feb. 3 and rode with him to New Paltz.

Mrs. Proctor said she saw her brother Feb. 3 and Feb. 5 in Poughkeepsie and he "appeared happy."

Counsel for both sides said the case may go to the jury next Tuesday.

Williams was arrested in New Paltz where he was found in possession of the dead sergeant's car. He said he borrowed the car from a Sergeant Hammond. Williams denied the killing.

Yugoslavia Has Troubles

Belgrade (AP)—Yugoslavia, juggling its available raw materials for export cash and domestic demands, has run into trade troubles with Sweden. Yugopress, a semi-official news agency, claims the difficulty stems chiefly from the "exaggerated prices" quoted for Swedish woodpulp and paper, adding they run 100 per cent higher than offers from other sources.

Overdue Library Book

Harrisburg, Ill. (AP)—"Sense and Sensibility" has returned to Harrisburg's library after an 18 years' absence. Jane Austen's book, withdrawn in 1934, turned up in good shape the other day in a local hotel. Librarians figured the overdue fine at $108 but they don't know from whom to collect.

The Gargoyle

Technically, a gargoyle is a waterspout carved in the shape of a grotesque animal, although the term often is used to denote grotesque representations of animals in other forms.

The 'Seven Seas'

The traditional "seven seas" included the North and South Atlantic, North and South Pacific, Indian, Arctic and Antarctic oceans, the last of which does not exist.

Native to Africa Only

Although the giraffe was found in Europe and India in previous geologic ages, it has been native only to Africa in relatively modern times.

It is only in comparatively recent times that it was known there is no Antarctic ocean.

Eli DePuy, 80, died suddenly Thursday afternoon in the town of Poughkeepsie. Mr. DePuy was a former resident of New Paltz where he was a farmer for many years. He was manager of the P. H. DuBois and Son fruit farm for many years, retiring about 10 years ago. His wife, the late Louise Roosa DePuy, died last year and since then he made his home in Poughkeepsie. Mr. DePuy was a member of the Friends Church of Clintondale. He is survived by six sons, Marvin, Millard, Phillip and Ernest, Poughkeepsie; Harold, New Paltz; and Russell, Deerpark, L. I., two brothers, John, Newburgh and Jacob, Walker Valley; seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Pine Funeral Home, New Paltz. The Rev. James Brimelow of Friends Church, Clintondale, will officiate. Burial will be in the New Paltz Rural Cemetery. Friends may call at the Pine Funeral Home in New Paltz tonight.

Vago Found Guilty

New York, June 20 (AP)—Oscar John Vago, a Hungarian-born structural engineer indicted for perjury in connection with a federal grand jury's atom spy investigation, was found guilty today. Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, in finding Vago guilty, placed him on three years probation after suspending a three year jail sentence. He said the case should have been promptly prosecuted by the government, and not 18 or 20 months afterward."

About the Folks

James M. Murphy of 176 Broadway has been released from the Benedictine Hospital and is convalescing at his home.

Late Bulletin

State police at Highland reported that two men who were badly injured in a fight near Clintondale were admitted to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

The hospital reported at 2 p. m., that no information had been obtained as to the identity of the men at that time, but both appeared in serious condition.

The state police report indicated that one of the men had been badly beaten, apparently with a hatchet.

Family Keeps Farm

Des Moines (AP)—Few farms have been kept in the family as long as a quarter section of land near Ft. Dodge owned by 81-year-old John Hogan. The land was purchased in 1856 by Hogan's father for $1.25 an acre. The original deed was signed by President Franklin Pierce. Hogan has lived on the farm all but two years of his life. His seven brothers and sisters were born and grew up there.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 20 (AP)—Railroads provided a ragged drag on the stock market today and dampened advancing tendencies.

Many leading railroads sold at small losses, and this was enough to turn that major division into an irregular pattern.

Throughout the list prices ranged from a point higher to a point lower with a few outstanding exceptions either way.

Steels held steady after overcoming early sagging tendencies. Automobiles clung to small gains.

Barber Oil was up around 5 points today on top of its gain of 7¼ yesterday. Other oils were steady.

Emerson Radio dropped around 2 points to a new low for the year after directors declared a dividend of 10 cents as compared with 25 cents previously paid quarterly.

All other radio-television issues suffered in the decline. Philco forecast record sales prospects this year in excess of 335 million dollars. The stock was fractionally lower along with the rest of that section.

Troy Paper Raises Price

Troy, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—Beginning Monday, the two Troy Record newspapers will cost six cents a copy. The price now is five cents. Frank L. York, publisher of the morning Troy Record and the afternoon Times-Record, said yesterday that the increase was necessary because of higher newsprint and production costs.

Merchants Praise Red Lights, Look For More Business

At a well-attended meeting Thursday night in Ruzzo's Bowlatorium, the Central Business Men's Association discussed plans for attracting more trade to the area since the opening of the Broadway underpass and went on record as favoring traffic control as proposed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

President Louis (Casey) Jones said the association appreciates the series of traffic lights on Broadway because, "the lights control the flow of traffic at a moderate rate and prevent speeding on the main thoroughfare."

A committee was appointed by Jones to promote the central business area and he hopes to announce a definite plan soon on the project. The committee consists of Anthony Saccoman, restaurant operator; A. G. Messenger, who owns a grocery and meat market and Guy Valeo, hardware merchant.

"We want everyone to know that the central business area is more lively than ever," Jones said.

There was a discussion on Christmas lighting, and although the Yule season is months away, Jones said an elaborate plan is underway to "trim up for the holidays and offer attractive buys to shoppers."

Vermont Woman Hurt in Crash

A Barre, Vt., woman was injured about 11:15 a. m. today when the automobile she was driving and a tractortrailer were in collision about a mile north of Kingston near the intersection of Routes 9W and 209, state police reported.

Catherine Giacherio, 50, of 61 Long street, Barre, was taken to the Kingston Hospital, where she was undergoing X-ray examination this noon, troopers said. Injuries did not appear to be serious, according to the report.

Trooper Michael Lisman reported that the Giacherio automobile was struck in the rear by a tractor-trailer owned by Tim's Transportation Company of Summit, N. J., and driven by Dean Tomen, 36, of Jersey City. The impact "spun the car around in the center of the highway," he reported. Both vehicles were headed south at the time of the accident. Investigation is continuing.

Denies Clothes Were Sergeant's

Trenton, N. J., June 20 (AP)—Pvt. Robert L. Williams, 19, of New Paltz, N. Y., today went on the witness stand in Federal Court where he is being tried for murder in the killing of a Fort Dix sergeant.

Williams, under direct examination, identified items of clothing as his own. The government said the clothing belonged to Sgt. Herman Wiener, who was found dead Feb. 3 on his barracks bed. The government said Wiener was beaten to death with a poker.

Williams testified he finished the seventh grade and worked for a while in Poughkeepsie for a veterinarian. He said he enlisted in the army July 11, 1950.

Asked if he were positive the clothing—civilian trousers, shirt and shoes—belonged to him, Williams said "yes." He said he obtained them from a soldier who went overseas, but couldn't remember the soldier's name.

Williams' brother, Floyd, 20, of Elizabeth, N. J., and his sister, Mrs. Florence Proctor, 24, of Poughkeepsie also testified. Floyd said he was picked up by his brother Feb. 3 and rode with him to New Paltz.

Mrs. Proctor said she saw her brother Feb. 3 and Feb. 5 in Poughkeepsie and he "appeared happy."

Counsel for both sides said the case may go to the jury next Tuesday.

Williams was arrested in New Paltz where he was found in possession of the dead sergeant's car. He said he borrowed the car from a Sergeant Hammond. Williams denied the killing.

Yugoslavia Has Troubles

Belgrade (AP)—Yugoslavia, juggling its available raw materials for export cash and domestic demands, has run into trade troubles with Sweden. Yugopress, a semi-official news agency, claims the difficulty stems chiefly from the "exaggerated prices" quoted for Swedish wood-pulp and paper, adding they run 100 per cent higher than offers from other sources.

Overdue Library Book

Harrisburg, Ill. (AP)—"Sense and Sensibility" has returned to Harrisburg's library after an 18 years' absence. Jane Austen's book, withdrawn in 1934, turned up in good shape the other day in a local hotel. Librarians figured the overdue fine at $108 but they don't know from whom to collect.

The Gargoyle

Technically, a gargoyle is a waterspout carved in the shape of a grotesque animal, although the term often is used to denote grotesque representations of animals in other forms.

The 'Seven Seas'

The traditional "seven seas" included the North and South Atlantic, North and South Pacific, Indian, Arctic and Antarctic oceans, the last of which does not exist.

Native to Africa Only

Although the giraffe was found in Europe and India in previous geologic ages, it has been native only to Africa in relatively modern times.

It is only in comparatively recent times that it was known there is no Antarctic ocean.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my many friends, neighbors and relatives for their many acts and helps of kindness shown me during the short sickness and death of my dear husband, Floyd W. Ellsworth, also thank the John N. Cordts Hose Co No. 8, the Hiltebrant Drydock Co., the Machinists Union No. 1609, the employes of Ladylyke Sportwear, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church, the alderman and supervisor of the Sixth Ward, Kingston Fire Fund Association also the six firemen, Harry Williams, Fred Williams, Warren Barnhardt, Harold Van Bramer, William Bruck and Abram Lowe who were bearers, also the Rev. Harold Schaible of the Ponckhockie Congregational Church for his service.

His Wife,

The Rev. James Brimelow of Friends Church, Clintondale, will officiate. Burial will be in the New Paltz Rural Cemetery. Friends may call at the Pine Funeral Home in New Paltz tonight.

Vago Found Guilty

New York, June 20 (AP)—Oscar John Vago, a Hungarian-born structural engineer indicted for perjury in connection with a federal grand jury's atom spy investigation, was found guilty today. Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, in finding Vago guilty, placed him on three years probation after suspending a three year jail sentence. He said the case should have been promptly prosecuted by the government, and not 18 or 20 months afterward."

About the Folks

James M. Murphy of 176 Broadway has been released from the Benedictine Hospital and is convalescing at his home.

Late Bulletin

State police at Highland reported that two men who were badly injured in a fight near Clintondale were admitted to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

The hospital reported at 2 p. m., that no information had been obtained as to the identity of the men at that time, but both appeared in serious condition.

The state police report indicated that one of the men had been badly beaten, apparently with a hatchet.

Family Keeps Farm

Des Moines (AP)—Few farms have been kept in the family as long as a quarter section of land near Ft. Dodge owned by 81-year-old John Hogan. The land was purchased in 1856 by Hogan's father for $1.25 an acre. The original deed was signed by President Franklin Pierce. Hogan has lived on the farm all but two years of his life. His seven brothers and sisters were born and grew up there.

Tradition

The "wise men of Gotham" refers to the tradition that the men of Gotham, England, by pretending to be fools disuaded the king from setting up a hunting lodge near their town.

English Used Mostly

English is the most widely used language in the world having overtaken German in science and French in diplomacy says the National Geographic Society.

TUB-THUMPER—Samuel C. Brightman, of Louisville, Ky., has the job of seeing that the public is kept informed of the virtues of the Democratic Party. He's just been named Director of Publicity for the Democratic National Committee.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 20 (AP)—Railroads provided a ragged drag on the stock market today and dampened advancing tendencies.

Many leading railroads sold at small losses, and this was enough to turn that major division into an irregular pattern.

Throughout the list prices ranged from a point higher to a point lower with a few outstanding exceptions either way.

Steels held steady after overcoming early sagging tendencies. Automobiles clung to small gains.

Barber Oil was up around 5 points today on top of its gain of 7¼ yesterday. Other oils were steady.

Emerson Radio dropped around 2 points to a new low for the year after directors declared a dividend of 10 cents as compared with 25 cents previously paid quarterly.

All other radio-television issues suffered in the decline. Philco forecast record sales prospects this year in excess of 335 million dollars. The stock was fractionally lower along with the rest of that section.

Troy Paper Raises Price

Troy, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—Beginning Monday, the two Troy Record newspapers will cost six cents a copy. The price now is five cents. Frank L. York, publisher of the morning Troy Record and the afternoon Times-Record, said yesterday that the increase was necessary because of higher newsprint and production costs.

Merchants Praise Red Lights, Look For More Business

At a well-attended meeting Thursday night in Ruzzo's Bowlatorium, the Central Business Men's Association discussed plans for attracting more trade to the area since the opening of the Broadway underpass and went on record as favoring traffic control as proposed by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

President Louis (Casey) Jones said the association appreciates the series of traffic lights on Broadway because, "the lights control the flow of traffic at a moderate rate and prevent speeding on the main thoroughfare."

A committee was appointed by Jones to promote the central business area and he hopes to announce a definite plan soon on the project. The committee consists of Anthony Saccoman, restaurant operator; A. G. Messenger, who owns a grocery and meat market and Guy Valeo, hardware merchant.

"We want everyone to know that the central business area is more lively than ever," Jones said.

There was a discussion on Christmas lighting, and although the Yule season is months away, Jones said an elaborate plan is underway to "trim up for the holidays and offer attractive buys to shoppers."

Vermont Woman Hurt in Crash

A Barre, Vt., woman was injured about 11:15 a. m. today when the automobile she was driving and a tractortrailer were in collision about a mile north of Kingston near the intersection of Routes 9W and 209, state police reported.

Catherine Giacherio, 50, of 61 Long street, Barre, was taken to the Kingston Hospital, where she was undergoing X-ray examination this noon, troopers said. Injuries did not appear to be serious, according to the report.

Trooper Michael Lisman reported that the Giacherio automobile was struck in the rear by a tractor-trailer owned by Tim's Transportation Company of Summit, N. J., and driven by Dean Tomen, 36, of Jersey City. The impact "spun the car around in the center of the highway," he reported. Both vehicles were headed south at the time of the accident. Investigation is continuing.

Cairo (AP)—Practically all available medical forces in Saudi-Arabia were called on to battle a recent outbreak of malaria in the Moslem holy cities of Mecca and Medina. The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said these strenuous health measures reduced the number of cases to 200.

Classes Scattered

Houston, Texas (AP)—University of Houston students can do their studying this summer under a Southeast Texas pine tree, or in tropical Guatemala, Mexico City, or Paris. The university has scattered its classes that far. This will be the 9th annual summer for the Latin-American study center of the university. Officials claim it is the largest Latin-American summer field study-travel program of any American university.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Harth to Head String Quartet

SIDNEY HARTH

Woodstock, June 26—Sidney Harth, outstanding among the younger violinists, who recently returned from a triumphant concert tour through France, North Africa, Germany and England, will again be leader of the well-known Woodstock String Quartet.

The quartet will open its season at the Town Hall, Thursday, July 10, at 8:30 p. m. This is the sixth season of the quartet which has gained a wide reputation for its perfection. The other members are: Teresa Testa, violin; Karen Tuttle, viola; Engelbert Roentgen, cello, who is also the founder and managing director of the quartet. Six subscription concerts will be given on July 10, 17, 24, August 7, 14 and 21. There will be no concert during the week of the Library Fair.

Seven distinguished guest artists will be heard, five of them for the first time at these concerts: Evelyn Lear, soprano (debut); Alexander Semmler, composer, pianist (debut); Eldin Burton, composer, pianist (debut); Robert H. Garfield, bassoon (debut); Julius Levine, double bass (debut); Ilse Sass, pianist; Christiane Nazzi, flute.

All of the guest soloists are outstanding and are experts of their respective instruments. A special treat will be offered with the combination of Alexander Semmler and Sidney Harth, violinist, in Semmler's violin and Piano sonata. Hanus A. Schimmerling's string quartet will have its first performance. The work has been dedicated to the Woodstock String Quartet.

The quartet will, in addition to its many other concerts, appear at Indian Hill, a summer workshop in the Berkshire hills, a unique community that offers young students an opportunity to study music with well-known instructors in music. Indian Hill is on the former estate of United States Ambassador Norman Davis, in Stockbridge, Mass. The members of the quartet will be available to teach the various string instruments and coach ensemble groups in quartet literature. Weekly concerts will be given there.

A change in the personnel of the quartet was necessitated by temporary committments of Carolyn Voight, last year's violist. The quartet was fortunate in securing Karen Tuttle as violist. She is well-known in musical circles for her extraordinary talent for the instrument. She is a member of the noted Schneider String Quartet which completed recordings of Haydn's entire quartet literature.

Further information concerning the concerts may be obtained by calling Woodstock 2332.

Directors Elected By Business Group

Woodstock, June 20—The regular meeting of the Woodstock Business Association was held Wednesday night at the Town House. Re-elected directors were Karl Cousins, Edgar Bauman, William Mower. William Melville, William Hand, Harry Alpern and Wayne Underhill. Dr. Edward Gurland, Warren Hutty and Carl Catalano were also elected. The directors will meet within the next ten days to elect officers for the coming year.

A resolution was passed that members of the organization be divided into four committees, each committee to concern itself with one of the four seasons of the year. Each committee will function three months prior to its designated season in order that plans may be completed in advance of each season.

The second Art Film Festival in America, which will probably be held either the second or third weekend in September, was discussed and a resolution passed that "it is the opinion of the Woodstock Business Association that the organization is anxious to support the art film festival." Details of the event will be discussed with Sidney Berkowitz and other officials within the next ten days.

It was decided that the Woodstock Business Association would allocate a certain sum of money to provide ten scholarships for a period of one month each, to be awarded at the discretion of Stewart Klonis, president of the League, to pupils at the summer session of the school. These scholarships will be designated as awards.

Ganso Gallery Opens Saturday, June 21

Woodstock, June 20 The Ganso Gallery will open its Woodstock headquarters Saturday afternoon, June 21, with a 57th street in Woodstock group exhibition comprised of the gallery group and two invited artists.

The show will feature new ceramics by Carl Walters, and works by the newcomers to the gallery—Karl Fortess and Ruth Gikow, one of whose paintings has just been acquired by the Springfield (Mass.) Museum. Miss Gikow is the wife of Jack Levine, well-known in this village. Other new members of the gallery are Alex Redein and Herman Cherry.

Of the group familiar to visitors at the gallery last summer are William Pachner, who will present a new series of paintings; Ethel Magafan, whose painting, Dark River, and Edward Chavez, whose painting, Harlequin, have both been purchased by a prominent Texas collector. Howard Mandel, one of the original group, is now in Paris where he held a one-man show of paintings in May. Recently Time magazine reported that Edward Chavez was one of the "outstanding artists in the Fulbright show in Italy." Ethel Magafan has also been invited to participate in the Carnegie International show in Pittsburgh, in the fall.

Other regular members of the gallery group are Bruce Currie, Jenne Magafan, Joseph Meert, Charles Stevens, and Tomas Penning, sculptor. The two guest artists who will exhibit at the gallery this season are Cecile Forman and Reginald Wilson.

The Ganso Gallery will forego its usual formal opening as more than half of its artists are away on Fulbright awards and university teaching positions. However, an informal "come in and say hello" invitation is extended to all for Saturday's opening.

Shultis Saw Mill Almost Completed

Woodstock, June 20—Construction is expected to be completed this week on a new hardwood saw mill, by Nelson Shultis of Wittenberg near the location of the old Shultis mill.

The mill, Shultis stated, was built to speed up operations as the old mill was not sufficiently up-to-date for production. Finished lumber may be made in the old mill, according to Shultis, but it is not as fast. It will continue, however, in operation. Parts of the old mill are 150 years old.

The new building is 80 feet long, 20 feet wide and is equipped with Diesel and electric power, both of which will be used.

Opens New Shop

Woodstock, June 20—Villagers who remember the former Schleicher Jack Horner Shop, located in what is now the Guild of Craftsmen, will find a similar shop in Mitzie's, opened recently by Mitzie Engel and featuring articles of peasant workmanship and design.

Art Notes

Woodstock, June 20—In the Fiftieth Anniversary issue of Art News, Summer 1952, mention is made of the Ten Painters show at the Peridot Gallery, New York. Special note concerns Rosemarie Beck's "labyrinthine Figure Map which, with its layered bands of Indian red, grey and black broken at intervals to reveal underpatches of orange and ocher, seems like a Pompeian fresco weathered to a point at which its figurative elements are forfeit to pure color and texture." In the same show "of a constrasting severity in black on white is Sal Sirugo's Composition with its needle strokes magnetized by hooked verticles drawn fine." Miss Beck and Sirugo are members of the New Group which exhibited both at Parnassus Square and Judson Smith's gallery last year.

Exhibition in Japan Includes Local Art

Woodstock, June 20—A selection of 39 American paintings will tour Japan during the summer as part of the International Fine Arts Exhibition sponsored by the Mainichi Newspapers of Japan.

Representing a diversity of contemporary American styles and techniques, the group includes Alexander Brook and Louis Bouche, both of whose work is now on view at the Mollie Higgins Smith gallery, former Woodstockers, and Abraham Rattner and Yasuo Kuniyoshi.

The American Federation of Arts collaborated with Kuniyoshi to assemble the exhibition, which will visit Tokyo, Osaka, Fukuoka and Nagoya.

Buys Yarn Shop

Woodstock, June 20—Monica's Yarn Shop on Rock City road was sold by Mrs. Sidney Neilson Wednesday to Mrs. Ada Renninger, of Bearsville road. Mrs. Renninger assumed ownership immediately and will continue to operate the shop from the present location until July 1, when she will move to new quarters at the rear of Hilton's Bakery on Tinker street.

Woodstock, June 20—Pete Carlson has been assigned as agent for MG automobile, an English sports car, for this area.

Hemlock Is Split By Lightning Bolt

Woodstock, June 20—The only damage suffered in this village Tuesday afternoon during the severe electrical storm was on the Payan property on Glasco Turnpike.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Collins were sitting on the covered terrace of their home when a bolt of lightening struck a hemlock tree tbout 100 yards from their house with a blinding flash. After the storm Collins investigated and discovered that a hemlock, about 45 feet high had been shattered by the bolt and that a guy wire from the tree to a nearby telephone pole on the Payan property had been snapped loose. Splinters of the tree were scattered for yards around while the trunk was split from top to roots.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 20—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Neilson, and their sons, Jordan and Eric, will leave Friday for a trip to Frederickton, New Brunswick, Canada, and will also visit in Maine. Jordan will visit his aunt in Canada for the summer.

Mrs. Chauncey Owen spent a few days at her home here.

MT. MARION

Mt. Marion, June 20—The annual fair and dinner of the Mt. Marion Reformed Church will be held July 4.

Miss Genevieve MacVeany of Miami, Fla., has been visiting Barbara Myer.

The school closed with a picnic at the Catskill Game Farm Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greco and family spent the weekend at Boston.

Miss Margaret Myer of Freeport, L. I., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Myer.

Edward Desch of Long Island has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. August Desch for several weeks.

Mrs. Walsh's daughters and their families are visiting her at the Spruce House.

Mrs. Stewart Maxwell of Kingston, Richard Van Etten and daughter, Peggy of Monticello, visited Mr. and Mrs. Dean Van Etten Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tyan and family of New York have returned to their home here for the summer.

Woodstock Artist Settles for $1,050

Los Angeles, June 20 (AP)—Film writer Gerald Drayson Adams has settled for $1,050 the $1,200-a-month suit of Mrs. Grace Adams, Woodstock, N. Y., mural painter, whom he divorced in Waco, Tex., in 1930.

Mrs. Adams had claimed she hadn't seen her husband for 22 years but located him after seeing his name among screen credit lines in a movie house.

Suing for separate maintenance, she contended she was forced to struggle along on $90 a month while Adams was earning $50,000 a year in Hollywood.

Adams, 52, claimed she knew about the Texas divorce and knew he had married Mrs. Florence M. Adams, 41, in Mexico in 1930.

NEW PALTZ

2nd Family Life Institute Will Begin on June 23

New Paltz, June 20 — Three outstanding personalities in the area of family living will lead the second annual Parent-Teacher Family Life Institute at the State University Teachers College in New Paltz, June 23-28.

An illustrated lecture on Family Life in India by Dr. Abraham Stone is scheduled for Thursday night, June 26. It is open to the public and will take place in the College Union building at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. Stone is a physician, marriage counselor, and author. He has recently returned from India where he was sent by the World Health Organization. During the Institute he will deal with questions of happy family living, community, school and marriage counseling, what society can do for the family. Dr. Stone is the author of the widely-published and well-known "Marriage Manual."

Judge Anna M. Kross is the presiding magistrate of Home Term court, an experimental court dealing exclusively with family problems in Manhattan Borough, New York. The court has special psychiatric services, a nursery for the children of families who come to court with their problems, and a privately financed social service unit to supplement the services of the court. It is hailed as a sociolegal institution which will serve as a model to the country and to the world.

Other Speakers

During the Family Life Institute, Judge Kross will speak on Danger Signals on the Road to Family Disorganization and Involving the Community in Family Stability.

Dr. Grace Baker, consulting psychiatrist for Mills College will discuss Goals and Frustration in Family Life and Family Values in Transition.

Throughout the Institute, several faculty members of the State University Teachers College will act as discussion leaders and group chairmen. These include Nathan Stillman, Dr. Dorothy Hayes, Mrs. Ruth Coon, and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Pink, Institute directors. Mrs. Brita Walker, art supervisor of the Arlington Public Schools, will participate in discussion of Family Activities.

The Family Life Institute is open to parents, social workers, teachers, ministers—anyone interested in strengthening the American Family.

Baldanzi Is Expelled

New York, June 20 (AP)—George Baldanzi, formerly second highest ranking officer in the CIO Textile Workers Union of America (TWUA), has been voted expelled along with five other officials who joined him in a switch to a rival AFL union. The expulsions were ordered yesterday by the TWUA executive council on recommendation of a trial board. The ousters were based on the men's acceptance of posts with the AFL United Textile Workers. They did not appear before the board to answer the charges, lodged by Mariano S. Bishop, of Fall River, Mass., the TWUA's newly-elected executive vice-president.

Jury Is Dismissed

Syracuse, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—A federal jury deadlocked and was dismissed early today in the trial of an Auburn man accused in the Syracuse Trust Co. overdrafts case. The government said it would hold a new trial for Paul Titus, 33-year-old appliance dealer indicted on charges of conspiracy and aiding in misapplication of $374,000 in bank funds.

Swope Advocates Betting Booths in Districts of State

New York, June 20 (AP)—Horse betting booths at Times Square, the financial district and other centers in the state were advocated yesterday by Herbert Bayard Swope, former chairman of the New York State Racing Commission.

Swope testified before a special legislative committee in support of the proposal for legalization of off-track betting, operated and taxed by the state.

The witness estimated off-track betting could provide the state with 90 to 100 million dollars a year in new revenue—roughly one-tenth of the state budget. Swope said the tax take would be three times what the state now gets from taxing pari mutuel betting at tracks.

Was Only Witness

Swope was yesterday's only witness before the committee studying off-track betting.

An opponent of the proposal, Racing Commissioner Ashley Trimble Cole, was called to testify today.

Under Swope's plan, the cash bets at the booths would be telephoned to the tracks and included in the pari mutuel pools. Winners at the booths would be paid off at track odds.

Swope said legal off-track betting would "eliminate the racketeers from the business" and end corrupt alliances between bookmakers and policemen.

The witness contended that off-track betting would not lead to any increase in the number of persons who bet on horses. Nor would it cause any new social evils.

Would Not Cut Gates

He contended it would not cut track attendance by more than about five per cent. Track operators oppose the plan for fear it would cut attendance, he added.

Other opponents of the plan, he said, are "certain politicians who believe they are getting right with God by considering betting a sin."

Swope said he could not see why betting inside a track fence is legal and betting outside is not. "The only difference I can see is that the man on one side of the fence pays tax, the other doesn't," he declared.

Swope opposed any system of licensing bookmakers to take legal bets. Such a system, he contended, would create a "special, special privilege business."

Favors Brass Knuckles

Seattle, June 20 (AP)—William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, wartime director of the Cloak-and-Dagger OSS, says he wants America to take off kid gloves and slip on the brass knuckles in the cold war with Russia. The retired army general told yesterday's closing session of the Kiwanis International convention that this country can not prepare to meet the dangers of World War 3 with the weapons of World War 2. He said Stalin had developed subversive warfare far beyond that of Hitler and Mussolini, and Americans must go the Russian dictator one better by mobilizing propaganda, deception, sabotage, guerrilla tactics and military and economic help. The 1953 convention will be held in New York city.

Delay in Publication Of 'Story of Kingston'

Stratford House, Inc., of New York city, publishers of the "Story of Kingston," has notified the author, Captain Andrew S. Hickey, USN retired, that there will be a delay in publication of the book because of the scarcity of suitable book paper and vacation periods by the bindery companies.

The book, which has a table of contents of 16 chapters and which includes an index of 800 lines, is completed. The pre-publication order blanks are good until July 26, 1952.

Captain Hickey regrets this delay and trusts that the many people who have ordered books will understand that the delay in publication was due to unforseen circumstances.

Terms, Fines Given

New York, June 20 (AP)—Jail terms and fines were imposed in federal court yesterday on 13 members of a gang for hijacking a $250,000 truckload of cigarette lighters last October. A six-year jail sentence and a $2,000 fine were given Frank Zumba, 46, also known as Frankie Brooks, of 48-18 45th street, Woodside, Queens, who pleaded guilty to stealing after being arrested by the FBI last November.

Increases Are Granted

Washington, June 19 (AP)—OPS has just authorized price ceiling increases for baby and "junior" foods. The increases range from 3½ to 8½ cents a dozen cans or jars, at the factory.

Suggests Federal Aid

Erie, Pa., June 20 (AP)—The suggestion that orchestras look towards the government for financial support was presented the American Symphony Orchestra League's convention by Howard Harrington, manager of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. In a speech yesterday Harrington advised that this is necessary because "the day of large individual donations to orchestras has given way to social revolution."

Harth to Head String Quartet

SIDNEY HARTH

Woodstock, June 26—Sidney Harth, outstanding among the younger violinists, who recently returned from a triumphant concert tour through France, North Africa, Germany and England, will again be leader of the well-known Woodstock String Quartet.

The quartet will open its season at the Town Hall, Thursday, July 10, at 8:30 p. m. This is the sixth season of the quartet which has gained a wide reputation for its perfection. The other members are: Teresa Testa, violin; Karen Tuttle, viola; Engelbert Roentgen, cello, who is also the founder and managing director of the quartet. Six subscription concerts will be given on July 10, 17, 24, August 7, 14 and 21. There will be no concert during the week of the Library Fair.

Seven distinguished guest artists will be heard, five of them for the first time at these concerts: Evelyn Lear, soprano (debut); Alexander Semmler, composer, pianist (debut); Eldin Burton, composer, pianist (debut); Robert H. Garfield, bassoon (debut); Julius Levine, double bass (debut); Ilse Sass, pianist; Christiane Nazzi, flute.

All of the guest soloists are outstanding and are experts of their respective instruments. A special treat will be offered with the combination of Alexander Semmler and Sidney Harth, violinist, in Semmler's violin and Piano sonata. Hanus A. Schimmerling's string quartet will have its first performance. The work has been dedicated to the Woodstock String Quartet.

The quartet will, in addition to its many other concerts, appear at Indian Hill, a summer workshop in the Berkshire hills, a unique community that offers young students an opportunity to study music with well-known instructors in music. Indian Hill is on the former estate of United States Ambassador Norman Davis, in Stockbridge, Mass. The members of the quartet will be available to teach the various string instruments and coach ensemble groups in quartet literature. Weekly concerts will be given there.

A change in the personnel of the quartet was necessitated by temporary committments of Carolyn Voight, last year's violist. The quartet was fortunate in securing Karen Tuttle as violist. She is well-known in musical circles for her extraordinary talent for the instrument. She is a member of the noted Schneider String Quartet which completed recordings of Haydn's entire quartet literature.

Further information concerning the concerts may be obtained by calling Woodstock 2332.

Directors Elected By Business Group

Woodstock, June 20—The regular meeting of the Woodstock Business Association was held Wednesday night at the Town House. Re-elected directors were Karl Cousins, Edgar Bauman, William Mower, William Melville, William Hand, Harry Alpern and Wayne Underhill. Dr. Edward Gurland, Warren Hutty and Carl Catalano were also elected. The directors will meet within the next ten days to elect officers for the coming year.

A resolution was passed that members of the organization be divided into four committees, each committee to concern itself with one of the four seasons of the year. Each committee will function three months prior to its designated season in order that plans may be completed in advance of each season.

The second Art Film Festival in America, which will probably be held either the second or third weekend in September, was discussed and a resolution passed that "it is the opinion of the Woodstock Business Association that the organization is anxious to support the art film festival." Details of the event will be discussed with Sidney Berkowitz and other officials within the next ten days.

It was decided that the Woodstock Business Association would allocate a certain sum of money to provide ten scholarships for a period of one month each, to be awarded at the discretion of Stewart Klonis, president of the League, to pupils at the summer session of the school. These scholarships will be designated as awards.

Ganso Gallery Opens Saturday, June 21

Woodstock, June 20 The Ganso Gallery will open its Woodstock headquarters Saturday afternoon, June 21, with a 57th street in Woodstock group exhibition comprised of the gallery group and two invited artists.

The show will feature new ceramics by Carl Walters, and works by the newcomers to the gallery—Karl Fortess and Ruth Gikow, one of whose paintings has just been acquired by the Springfield (Mass.) Museum. Miss Gikow is the wife of Jack Levine, well-known in this village. Other new members of the gallery are Alex Redein and Herman Cherry.

Of the group familiar to visitors at the gallery last summer are William Pachner, who will present a new series of paintings; Ethel Magafan, whose painting, Dark River, and Edward Chavez, whose painting, Harlequin, have both been purchased by a prominent Texas collector. Howard Mandel, one of the original group, is now in Paris where he held a one-man show of paintings in May. Recently Time magazine reported that Edward Chavez was one of the "outstanding artists in the Fulbright show in Italy." Ethel Magafan has also been invited to participate in the Carnegie International show in Pittsburgh, in the fall.

Other regular members of the gallery group are Bruce Currie, Jenne Magafan, Joseph Meert, Charles Stevens, and Tomas Penning, sculptor. The two guest artists who will exhibit at the gallery this season are Cecile Forman and Reginald Wilson.

The Ganso Gallery will forego its usual formal opening as more than half of its artists are away on Fulbright awards and university teaching positions. However, an informal "come in and say hello" invitation is extended to all for Saturday's opening.

Shultis Saw Mill Almost Completed

Woodstock, June 20—Construction is expected to be completed this week on a new hardwood saw mill, by Nelson Shultis of Wittenberg near the location of the old Shultis mill.

The mill, Shultis stated, was built to speed up operations as the old mill was not sufficiently up-to-date for production. Finished lumber may be made in the old mill, according to Shultis, but it is not as fast. It will continue, however, in operation. Parts of the old mill are 150 years old.

The new building is 80 feet long, 20 feet wide and is equipped with Diesel and electric power, both of which will be used.

Opens New Shop

Woodstock, June 20—Villagers who remember the former Schleicher Jack Horner Shop, located in what is now the Guild of Craftsmen, will find a similar shop in Mitzie's, opened recently by Mitzie Engel and featuring articles of peasant workmanship and design.

Art Notes

Woodstock, June 20—In the Fiftieth Anniversary issue of Art News, Summer 1952, mention is made of the Ten Painters show at the Peridot Gallery, New York. Special note concerns Rosemarie Beck's "labyrinthine Figure Map which, with its layered bands of Indian red, grey and black broken at intervals to reveal underpatches of orange and ocher, seems like a Pompeian fresco weathered to a point at which its figurative elements are forfeit to pure color and texture." In the same show "of a constrasting severity in black on white is Sal Sirugo's Composition with its needle strokes magnetized by hooked verticles drawn fine." Miss Beck and Sirugo are members of the New Group which exhibited both at Parnassus Square and Judson Smith's gallery last year.

Exhibition in Japan Includes Local Art

Woodstock, June 20—A selection of 39 American paintings will tour Japan during the summer as part of the International Fine Arts Exhibition sponsored by the Mainichi Newspapers of Japan.

Representing a diversity of contemporary American styles and techniques, the group includes Alexander Brook and Louis Bouche, both of whose work is now on view at the Mollie Higgins Smith gallery, former Woodstockers, and Abraham Rattner and Yasuo Kuniyoshi.

The American Federation of Arts collaborated with Kuniyoshi to assemble the exhibition, which will visit Tokyo, Osaka, Fukuoka and Nagoya.

Buys Yarn Shop

Woodstock, June 20—Monica's Yarn Shop on Rock City road was sold by Mrs. Sidney Neilson Wednesday to Mrs. Ada Renninger, of Bearsville road. Mrs. Renninger assumed ownership immediately and will continue to operate the shop from the present location until July 1, when she will move to new quarters at the rear of Hilton's Bakery on Tinker street.

Hemlock Is Split By Lightning Bolt

Woodstock, June 20—The only damage suffered in this village Tuesday afternoon during the severe electrical storm was on the Payan property on Glasco Turnpike.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Collins were sitting on the covered terrace of their home when a bolt of lightening struck a hemlock tree tbout 100 yards from their house with a blinding flash. After the storm Collins investigated and discovered that a hemlock, about 45 feet high had been shattered by the bolt and that a guy wire from the tree to a nearby telephone pole on the Payan property had been snapped loose. Splinters of the tree were scattered for yards around while the trunk was split from top to roots.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 20—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Neilson, and their sons, Jordan and Eric, will leave Friday for a trip to Frederickton, New Brunswick, Canada, and will also visit in Maine. Jordan will visit his aunt in Canada for the summer.

Mrs. Chauncey Owen spent a few days at her home here.

Woodstock Artist Settles for $1,050

Los Angeles, June 20 (AP)—Film writer Gerald Drayson Adams has settled for $1,050 the $1,200-a-month suit of Mrs. Grace Adams, Woodstock, N. Y., mural painter, whom he divorced in Waco, Tex., in 1930.

Mrs. Adams had claimed she hadn't seen her husband for 22 years but located him after seeing his name among screen credit lines in a movie house.

Suing for separate maintenance, she contended she was forced to struggle along on $90 a month while Adams was earning $50,000 a year in Hollywood.

Adams, 52, claimed she knew about the Texas divorce and knew he had married Mrs. Florence M. Adams, 41, in Mexico in 1930.

NEW PALTZ

2nd Family Life Institute Will Begin on June 23

New Paltz, June 20 — Three outstanding personalities in the area of family living will lead the second annual Parent-Teacher Family Life Institute at the State University Teachers College in New Paltz, June 23-28.

An illustrated lecture on Family Life in India by Dr. Abraham Stone is scheduled for Thursday night, June 26. It is open to the public and will take place in the College Union building at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. Stone is a physician, marriage counselor, and author. He has recently returned from India where he was sent by the World Health Organization. During the Institute he will deal with questions of happy family living, community, school and marriage counseling, what society can do for the family. Dr. Stone is the author of the widely-published and well-known "Marriage Manual."

TAFT PUSHES OWN BANDWAGON

The struggle between Senator Taft and General Eisenhower for the Republican nomination has entered the stage where tough in-fighting for uncommitted delegates dominates the picture.

Inevitably in this period political tensions will mount and the debate on both sides will become shrill. This is perhaps the hardest-fought and the bitterest GOP contest since the 1912 affair between Taft's father and Teddy Roosevelt.

But as the clamor continues, the pressures pile up and the closed-door maneuvers are made, certain lines of strategy can be defined.

Look first at the Taft camp. No matter what neutral figures you use, it is clear Taft today enjoys a substantial lead in delegates. By the time the final 13 are chosen, this advantage might be as high as 80. The indications are, however, that he is still more than 100 votes from the magic majority of 604.

The Taft strategy is to drum into delegates' ears the notion that his lead is decisive, that the bandwagon is rolling and time is ebbing. To this end, his men claim 540 delegates for him, considerably more than neutral sources allow.

All over the map delegates are being told: "Get with us on the first ballot, or you may be too late. We may not need you after that."

This early-ballot psychology is almost a compulsory tactic for the Taft forces. It is axiomatic that if the front-runner does not build on his lead and go on to win quickly, he will go into a crashing tailspin.

There can be little doubt that this effort to create a bandwagon atmosphere played a large part in the choice of General MacArthur as keynoter. Avowedly for Taft, he is unlikely to plead the senator's case openly, but he may offer a distinct portrait of the kind of man he believes should bear the Republican banner.

Since the two main contestants are so closely matched, it seems too bad that the GOP national committee did not choose a keynoter less partisan, who might properly represent the whole range of Republican opinion and thus erect a foundation for a united front once the nominee is chosen.

The selection of MacArthur and a long list of other pro-Taft convention officers indicates the Taft camp is pressing its advantage hard.

But it ought to be clear that this result was possible all along. Taft men dominate the national committee, and it was simply a question whether they would use their weight or not. The decision to use it fits in perfectly with the drive for a quick Taft nomination.

Having taken control of the convention machinery, the big question is how the Taft forces will use it. Will they try to seat all pro-Taft delegates among the 75 or so in dispute from Texas, Louisiana and other southern states? The chances are that they will not push their technical advantage to that limit. Taft himself is using the word "compromise" in discussing the contested delegations.

To push to the extreme would clearly wipe out all chance of real party harmony, and might not be successful, since it is not plain that the Taft forces could win a convention floor fight over the southern delegates if it came to that.

In any event, the Taft strategy is marked out for all to see. It is to convince the waverers that it is all over right now, and then plunge on to swift victory.

THE CRUCIAL STATE

The Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican convention will not choose its candidate until the last moment, says Governor John C. Fine, whose influence over the group may well be the deciding factor. With Taft and Eisenhower not far apart in delegates chosen, Pennsylvania might turn the scale.

This would not be the first time that Pennsylvania selected the candidate. In 1928 Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, who as a wealthy financier and a Pittsburgher had much to say as to what Pennsylvania should do. Mellon's rival, Boss William S. Vare of Philadelphia, saw a chance and took it. He announced that as far as he was concerned, Pennsylvania was for Hoover. His hand forced, Mellon had to fall in line, and Hoover was nominated.

Whether Vare profited in appointments is not clear. They are likely to be part of the price exacted by the Pennsylvanians for their final decision.

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE BERLIN QUESTION

As long as General Eisenhower was safeguarded by an exalted position, the discussion of the Berlin question was academic. Today, since he is a candidate, this question looms large. It is increasingly more difficult to explain why we are now involved in all the complications concerning Germany, including the need for the costly Berlin airlift, the division of Germany into East and West, the division of Berlin into zones without an adequate entrance and exit. Some students attribute our troubles in Korea to the strengthening of the Russian position at the Elbe river. Korea has cost us about 120,000 casualties including 20,000 dead.

Errors of judgment can be made with the best of intentions and may even have some justification. Thus far, these are General Eisenhower's explanations:

1. At a meeting of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, on March 3, 1949, he said:

". . . Your question seems to imply that the decision not to march into Berlin was a political decision. On the contrary, there is only one person in the world responsible for that decision. That was I. There was no one who interfered with me in the slightest way.

"Until the day I die, there is one thing that I will testify to in favor of or on the side of Mr. Roosevelt's skill in handling a country in war. When he put his men into the field, he did not interfere with them as long as he left them there."

Then Eisenhower described the situation at that moment:

"The Russians had attacked on January 12th, and that attack, you will recall, had carried them clear across the Oder. They had a bridgehead west of the Oder, and strong forces within 30 miles of Berlin. They told us that coincident with our leaping forward from the Rhine they were ready to attack again. So I sent around to Moscow the details of my plan. I saw no possible chance of going 300 miles, crossing the Elbe at the end of 250 miles, a big river, getting in and surrounding Berlin, with the Russians having to attack from 30 miles off.

"Now, another great problem arose: When two friendly forces are moving toward each other directly to crush like a nutcracker an enemy in between, you get a very serious problem. . . . Today your fighter bombers range out 200 miles ahead of you. They are whipping and knocking down everything they see in your path.

"As those two friendly forces come together . . . the danger of lunging into a battle between friends is very, very great, and that is multiplied when you realize that you cannot speak the other's language at all. All you can do is switch your radio on to talk to each other and tell them where to stop and what to do, 'and, for goodness' sake, Joe, stop shooting. This is Ike.' (Laughter)"

There is more of the same which I omit without distortion.

At Detroit, on June 14, 1952, General Eisenhower returned to the subject. He first repeated much of the above. He added:

"What was the great point in attacking it and capturing it (Berlin), particularly as our political bosses had already told us that the line we must occupy was 200 miles to the west. After we had captured the line of the Elbe and captured Leipzig, we had to retreat 150 miles from there to get back where our bosses had already told us we must go.

"And finally . . . Marshal Zhukov—a slightly different type of Russian—told me that he used 22 divisions, 2,500 guns and suffered about 10,000 casualties taking this destroyed city of Berlin. Now, none of these brave men of 1952 have yet offered to go out and pick out the 10,000 American mothers whose sons should have made the sacrifice to capture a worthless objective."

This is the Eisenhower story with its essential contradiction. Between 1945 and 1952, a series of events have occurred involving us in a "cold war" in Europe, a fighting war in Asia, and a remobilization of forces in this country, including a conscript army of 3,500,000. We have also been forced to spend about $40,000,000,000 on European aid, including the subsidy of NATO.

Therefore, the question does arise as to whether Eisenhower's judgment has been justified by the course of events and history.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CAMPAIGNS TO GIVE US DENTAL HEALTH

Just as the medical profession strives to prevent disease, so the dental profession strives to prevent decay of teeth.

Two ways to prevent decay of teeth are: first, to have children cut down on foods rich in sugar or having them rinse out the mouth with water within 10 minutes after eating foods rich in sugar; second, to have the municipality fluoridate the water supply or dentists apply fluorides directly to the teeth.

Dr. Leroy M. Ennis, president of the American Dental Association, recommends the following four-fold program as a "practical means of providing children with sound dental health."

While this fourfold program is known to many readers, it should become a part of the daily health habits of children and adults.

1. A well-balanced diet with consumption of sweets kept as low as possible.

2. Proper tooth brushing habits that should be learned early. This means brushing the teeth within 10 minutes after eating.

3. Early detection and treatment of dental disease. This will prevent greater dental ills later on. Neglect may produce serious dental problems which will continue throughout life.

4. Either access to drinking water from a community water system containing the proper amount of fluorides for tooth decay prevention, or application of sodium fluoride to the child's teeth at periodic intervals. Children who drink fluoridated water from birth have from one-half to two-thirds less tooth decay than those who drink water containing no fluorides.

Dr. Ennis points out further that tooth decay afflicts more than 90 per cent of children of school age to make it childhood's most common disease.

Never before in its history has the dental profession been possessed of so many effective weapons to prevent and control dental diseases and diseases due to dental disease. If the preventive and control methods now known are used to their fullest extent, there is small reason for children to reach manhood and womanhood crippled by the dental disorders that have plagued their parents and grandparents.

Old Hand on the Job

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—A lot has been said about the reasons why able Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois does not want to run for president. Probably the most cogent reason is his family.

Wives have played an important part in the lives of American presidents and presidential candidates, from the days of Thomas Jefferson through Abraham Lincoln who was never happy with his wife, to the late great Arthur Vandenberg who never really wanted to run for president because of a former friendship with a lady diplomat.

There is nothing secret or unusual about Governor Stevenson's domestic problems. They are no discredit to him. He was unhappily married for many years, is now divorced, and is reported to be in love with Miss Dorothy Fosdick, daughter of the noted Baptist cleryman, Harry Emerson Fosdick. Miss Fosdick is now a member of the State Department's policy and planning board, one of the top diplomatic jobs in the nation.

But politics is a cruel business. And a man who runs for president virtually has to sacrifice children and marital happiness, to say nothing of facing the opposition of those church leaders who do not believe in divorce.

Governor Stevenson's wife was Ellen Borden of Chicago, daughter of a Chicago lawyer and no relation to the Borden milk family. Mrs. Stevenson, however, always seemed to look down her nose just a bit at marrying a boy from the corn belt, even though Adlai was the grandson of a vice president of the United States.

Poetess vs. Politician

She didn't particularly like living in downstate Bloomington, where Adlai owns an interest in the Pantagraph, of which he was once asistant editor. In Chicago she was happier. There she used to write sonnets, was considered a better than average poetess, and had a fairly good play, in verse, produced by a college theatre.

Came the election of Franklin Roosevelt in 1932 and Adlai went to Washington as special counsel to Henry Wallace's AAA, returning to Chicago after a year to practice law, then going back to Washington just before Pearl Harbor as assistant to Frank Knox, a Republican, whom FDR had made secretary of the navy.

Ellen Stevenson scoffed at returning to Washington. She complained that Adlai's friends always talked politics or economics. They didn't understand art. In fact, they didn't even know the difference between a sonnet and a canto.

She also complained that Adlai was always "assistant to somebody." He always played second fiddle. He was assistant to the secretary of the navy, later assistant to the secretary of state, and he was assistant to the U. S. delegation on establishing the United Nations. But he was never top dog.

Mrs. Stevenson did, however, like England. Adlai went to London with the U. S. economic mission toward the end of the war, and there Ellen found congenial people. They appreciated literature and she was happy.

Bleak Dinners

Finally, the day came when Adlai was no longer assistant to somebody, no longer played second fiddle. He became governor of Illinois. But that didn't seem to make her much happier.

On the day Adlai was inaugurated in Springfield, Mrs. Stevenson started out quite bravely. She was polite and gay. But before the day was over, she drooped. She was obviously bored and inclined to insult the people who trooped over her lawn and the politicians on whose cooperation her husband's career depended.

There followed dull, bleak meals at the executive mansion. Friends noticed that Adlai excused himself after dinner, retired to his study to work. Eventually, Mrs. Stevenson proposed divorce.

What the governor is reported disliking most about a presidential campaign is the effect it might have on his two boys. There's also the fact that a divorced president has never yet occupied the White House. Finally, there's the political possibility that the Catholic vote, though tolerant of an unmarried divorcee, might not be so tolerant if the governor remarried—especially if his new wife was the daughter of Harry Emerson Fosdick, an outstanding Protestant cleric.

These are some of the things that have weighed heavily on the mind of the man who still remains the top choice of most Democratic leaders and who has been the best governor of Illinois in many, many years.

Washington Pipeline

Congressional leaders now doubt they will be able to adjourn Congress before the GOP convention, July 7. Instead, both houses probably will recess July 5, come back either on August 15 or Sept. 15, to take up the unfinished business of the Senate—including a log jam of conference reports in Senator McKellar's Appropriations Committee. . . . McKellar for a time refused to let his committee act on appropriation bills, even though he was sick and could not be there. Thanks to senatorial courtesy, other committee members let him get away with it for some time. . . . Jack Kennedy, the congressman from Boston, has done a good job of jacking up the bus lines in the nation's capital, even though Washington is a long way from the city of the beans and the cod. . . . Now Queen Elizabeth finds herself in possession of what the British government believes to be the world's largest deposit of uranium. It's in northern Nigeria, is owned by the crown, and there's enough uranium to supply the western world for 20 years. . . . Vice President Barkley has reported that he hasn't been able to control the two Democratic senators from Kentucky, Clements and Underwood, on tidelands oil. It was a great surprise to the administration when they voted against the inland states, and a greater surprise when they refused to follow the friendly leadership of the veep.

Today in Europe

Bombed Buildings and Homes Being Replaced but Morale of Western Europe Is Low

By DAVID LAWRENCE

En Route From Europe, June 20—What the bombs destroyed—the buildings and homes—is slowly but surely being replaced in western Europe by new structures better than the old ones. But what isn't being replaced is the morale of the people. Recovery is slow, while disillusionment and loss of faith keep the populace in most of the free countries in a state of stunned fear.

Fear of another war influences every thought in government and keeps the people worried and anxious. Pacifism never had more adherents than it has today in Europe and, no matter how bold the phrases of government leaders in the parliaments of Europe, they know in their hearts that their opponents can make political capital any day by appealing to sentiments of peace that amount virtually to pacifism.

Time and the growth of new generations to military age may change all this, but it cannot be denied that conscription is unpopular and that rearmament against any potential enemy is viewed with alarm.

Parallel with this attitude toward defensive armies is another residue of the war—a loss of faith in businessmen and a tendency to look with suspicion on them as selfish interests which in some countries backed dictators and stupidly helped to bring on wars.

Businessmen in all the free countries are under a heavier load of restriction than any American can imagine. But many of the businessmen are not forward-looking and have given the Socialists plenty of ammunition through their backwardness on the subject of wages and working conditions. Profits at times in the past have gone to fantastic heights as wages have been kept low. Taxation in Britain is high for business, but it is not high enough in other countries.

Curiously enough, the European businessman is not a believer in free enterprise, though he thinks he is. If you talk with him about competition, he says it is ruinous. Instinctively the European businessman favors monopolies and cartels. It is ingrained in his philosophy of operation, and that is one of the reasons why the Socialists look so cynically on "free enterprise" as a thing of the past. That's why they want the "state" to take over the monopolies and run them in the "public interest." But the "state" is just a bunch of inexperienced men with political rather than business background, and that's no solution either.

The trade unions in Europe are in worse condition than the businesses. The quality of the leadership in Great Britain is high, but in France and Italy and Germany it is very poor. Too often the unions are pawns in a political game played by Communists as well as Socialists.

Most vital to the maintenance of peace is the establishment of economic stability. Everybody concedes that the seeds of war are sown in unstable economic conditions. But stability is a difficult equilibrium to attain when selfishness can be organized into rival and conflicting groups. Selfishness isn't confined to the economic groups, either. It is strong in the very groups of politicians who profess to be the greatest champions of the people's interests. Thus, it is sometimes difficult to tell where love or party and affection for its own ideology ends and love of country begins. Too many times the Socialists in Europe give the impression that reform is more important to them than recovery and that ideology is more important than national safety.

Europe is a frightening swirl of political and economic currents. It's not surprising to find this after two world wars of devastating proportions. The wonder is that there has been as much recovery and reconstruction as appears on the surface today. It is not a situation, however, over which America need become discouraged. It is important, of course, to paint the true picture so that the nature of the job can be understood—so that impatience will not lead to abandonment of the very policies of moral and material support which the United States alone is capable of giving to a distraught Europe. As between high taxes in America, less profits and other sacrifices of a material nature, and another world war, it can hardly be doubted what the vast majority of the American people would choose when the alternatives are fully explained to them.

But an objective view of Europe and its problems, so necessary to an understanding of what policies are desirable for the United States to pursue, cannot be projected into the American political situation today. Most Europeans are resigned to the fact that only after the American presidential elections are over and a new president has been chosen can the physical power and moral force of the United States be channeled into the European problem in a renewed effort to maintain the peace of the European continent—and that means, of course, peace or war for the American people, too.

Peace in Europe doesn't depend solely on Stalin's misbehavior. It depends more on the rapidity with which the democracies can recover their own economic strength, restore their own morale as individual nations, and, above all, rebuild faith and confidence in themselves.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Vivien Kellems, of Stonington, Conn., is one of the best Republicans in the whole Republican party, one of the best authorities on the evil history of the income and withholding taxes and a fighter who mades the pretty Hollywood ham, Governor John Lodge, look precious. John Lodge is a brother of Henry Cabot Lodge, who is a Republican senator from Massachusetts and manager of the Eisenhower campaign. Descendants of old Henry Cabot Lodge, who licked Woodrow Wilson and his League of Nations, these two little Lodges have lacked the integrity to carry on as Republican Republicans and have turned into that type of political degenerate known as the me-too Republican. John Lodge lived in a world of make-believe before he became a, if you will, statesman.

Vivien Kellems has been ditched again by the Republican machine in Connecticut. John Lodge did it. Vivien aspired to the nomination for the Senate but was turned down in a form of political process, lower, if possible, than the Texas system. The Connecticut town delegates, chosen in town party caucus, meet in Hartford, the capital, and nominate the party candidates for elective office. Under the ephemeral rule of Pretty Boy Lodge, in collusion with China-Boy Henry Luce, who has a legal foot in Connecticut, the Republican convention instructed the Connecticut delegation to the Chicago convention to vote for Ike. That was no more legitimate than the Texas process which raised such a pietistical wail from the Eisenhower claque when Senator Taft won the Texas delegation at Mineral Wells. There was only one slate of candidates and Vivien's charge that this was a Hitlerian ballot was true.

But the same Connecticut convention nominated as the Republican candidate for the United States Senate one William Purtell who registered as a Republican only two years ago. Nobody had ever heard of Purtell except his own loved one, whereas Vivien Kellems is a woman of fine renown all over the country with a subscribed following of about 150,000 women who believe in her. A large number of men believe in her, too. They very well could after hearing her discuss our tax system and its menacing faults.

Intending no reflection on General Eisenhower, I think you might like to wonder why such a fellow as Luce, with his kind regards for Charlie Chaplin, Margaret Bourke-White and others of that kind, wants to nominate the general for president, China-boy has ballyhooed the faded little faker beyond the dreams of any press agent and Bourke-White, a dreary old veteran of many Red fronts, got an assignment from Life to photograph sacred intimacies of our most confidential bombers with the genial approval of Lieut. Gen. Curtis Le May, chief of the strategic air command.

Luce tossed a halter over Ike last winter. First he oat-bagged El Jefe with a picture of the disarming smile the size of a bathmat and then came the potemkin ovation at Madison Square Garden where a lot of Texas Democrats bloviated far into the night in a sudden access of the true Republican spirit. One day, we must get the Carnegie layout to put up a million to study the noisy braggadocio which prompts the milkshake Texan to tilt back his hat, drag out his drawl and act needlessly silly in New York and London whereas in Midland, Eagle Pass or Beeville he is just another muddy illiterate.

Vivien Kellems has stood under smears, ridicule and lies for years, always for a patriotic principle. During the war some rodent in the Roosevelt bureaucracy swiped some personal letters of hers out of the public mail and Drew Pearson blabbed them on the radio for some laxative. Pearson's smear was the price this good citizen had to pay for exposing the criminal conduct of the awful slobs that Roosevelt had put to the job of building up Soviet Russia to the size of our mighty enemy of today. Vivien told us how many miles of heavy, industrial copper cable and how many

TAFT PUSHES OWN BANDWAGON

The struggle between Senator Taft and General Eisenhower for the Republican nomination has entered the stage where tough in-fighting for uncommitted delegates dominates the picture.

Inevitably in this period political tensions will mount and the debate on both sides will become shrill. This is perhaps the hardest-fought and the bitterest GOP contest since the 1912 affair between Taft's father and Teddy Roosevelt.

But as the clamor continues, the pressures pile up and the closed-door maneuvers are made, certain lines of strategy can be defined.

Look first at the Taft camp. No matter what neutral figures you use, it is clear Taft today enjoys a substantial lead in delegates. By the time the final 13 are chosen, this advantage might be as high as 80. The indications are, however, that he is still more than 100 votes from the magic majority of 604.

The Taft strategy is to drum into delegates' ears the notion that his lead is decisive, that the bandwagon is rolling and time is ebbing. To this end, his men claim 540 delegates for him, considerably more than neutral sources allow.

All over the map delegates are being told: "Get with us on the first ballot, or you may be too late. We may not need you after that."

This early-ballot psychology is almost a compulsory tactic for the Taft forces. It is axiomatic that if the front-runner does not build on his lead and go on to win quickly, he will go into a crashing tailspin.

There can be little doubt that this effort to create a bandwagon atmosphere played a large part in the choice of General MacArthur as keynoter. Avowedly for Taft, he is unlikely to plead the senator's case openly, but he may offer a distinct portrait of the kind of man he believes should bear the Republican banner.

Since the two main contestants are so closely matched, it seems too bad that the GOP national committee did not choose a keynoter less partisan, who might properly represent the whole range of Republican opinion and thus erect a foundation for a united front once the nominee is chosen.

The selection of MacArthur and a long list of other pro-Taft convention officers indicates the Taft camp is pressing its advantage hard.

But it ought to be clear that this result was possible all along. Taft men dominate the national committee, and it was simply a question whether they would use their weight or not. The decision to use it fits in perfectly with the drive for a quick Taft nomination.

Having taken control of the convention machinery, the big question is how the Taft forces will use it. Will they try to seat all pro-Taft delegates among the 75 or so in dispute from Texas, Louisiana and other southern states? The chances are that they will not push their technical advantage to that limit. Taft himself is using the word "compromise" in discussing the contested delegations.

To push to the extreme would clearly wipe out all chance of real party harmony, and might not be successful, since it is not plain that the Taft forces could win a convention floor fight over the southern delegates if it came to that.

In any event, the Taft strategy is marked out for all to see. It is to convince the waverers that it is all over right now, and then plunge on to swift victory.

THE CRUCIAL STATE

The Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican convention will not choose its candidate until the last moment, says Governor John C. Fine, whose influence over the group may well be the deciding factor. With Taft and Eisenhower not far apart in delegates chosen, Pennsylvania might turn the scale.

This would not be the first time that Pennsylvania selected the candidate. In 1928 Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, who as a wealthy financier and a Pittsburgher had much to say as to what Pennsylvania should do. Mellon's rival, Boss William S. Vare of Philadelphia, saw a chance and took it. He announced that as far as he was concerned, Pennsylvania was for Hoover. His hand forced, Mellon had to fall in line, and Hoover was nominated.

Whether Vare profited in appointments is not clear. They are likely to be part of the price exacted by the Pennsylvanians for their final decision.

THE BERLIN QUESTION

As long as General Eisenhower was safeguarded by an exalted position, the discussion of the Berlin question was academic. Today, since he is a candidate, this question looms large. It is increasingly more difficult to explain why we are now involved in all the complications concerning Germany, including the need for the costly Berlin airlift, the division of Germany into East and West, the division of Berlin into zones without an adequate entrance and exit. Some students attribute our troubles in Korea to the strengthening of the Russian position at the Elbe river. Korea has cost us about 120,000 casualties including 20,000 dead.

Errors of judgment can be made with the best of intentions and may even have some justification. Thus far, these are General Eisenhower's explanations:

1. At a meeting of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, on March 3, 1949, he said:

". . . Your question seems to imply that the decision not to march into Berlin was a political decision. On the contrary, there is only one person in the world responsible for that decision. That was I. There was no one who interfered with me in the slightest way.

"Until the day I die, there is one thing that I will testify to in favor of or on the side of Mr. Roosevelt's skill in handling a country in war. When he put his men into the field, he did not interfere with them as long as he left them there."

Then Eisenhower described the situation at that moment:

"The Russians had attacked on January 12th, and that attack, you will recall, had carried them clear across the Oder. They had a bridgehead west of the Oder, and strong forces within 30 miles of Berlin. They told us that coincident with our leaping forward from the Rhine they were ready to attack again. So I sent around to Moscow the details of my plan. I saw no possible chance of going 300 miles, crossing the Elbe at the end of 250 miles, a big river, getting in and surrounding Berlin, with the Russians having to attack from 30 miles off.

"Now, another great problem arose: When two friendly forces are moving toward each other directly to crush like a nutcracker an enemy in between, you get a very serious problem. . . . Today your fighter bombers range out 200 miles ahead of you. They are whipping and knocking down everything they see in your path.

"As those two friendly forces come together . . . the danger of lunging into a battle between friends is very, very great, and that is multiplied when you realize that you cannot speak the other's language at all. All you can do is switch your radio on to talk to each other and tell them where to stop and what to do, 'and, for goodness' sake, Joe, stop shooting. This is Ike.' (Laughter)"

There is more of the same which I omit without distortion.

At Detroit, on June 14, 1952, General Eisenhower returned to the subject. He first repeated much of the above. He added:

"What was the great point in attacking it and capturing it (Berlin), particularly as our political bosses had already told us that the line we must occupy was 200 miles to the west. After we had captured the line of the Elbe and captured Leipzig, we had to retreat 150 miles from there to get back where our bosses had already told us we must go.

"And finally . . . Marshal Zhukov—a slightly different type of Russian—told me that he used 22 divisions, 2,500 guns and suffered about 10,000 casualties taking this destroyed city of Berlin. Now, none of these brave men of 1952 have yet offered to go out and pick out the 10,000 American mothers whose sons should have made the sacrifice to capture a worthless objective."

This is the Eisenhower story with its essential contradiction. Between 1945 and 1952, a series of events have occurred involving us in a "cold war" in Europe, a fighting war in Asia, and a remobilization of forces in this country, including a conscript army of 3,500,000. We have also been forced to spend about $40,000,000,000 on European aid, including the subsidy of NATO.

Therefore, the question does arise as to whether Eisenhower's judgment has been justified by the course of events and history.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CAMPAIGNS TO GIVE US DENTAL HEALTH

Just as the medical profession strives to prevent disease, so the dental profession strives to prevent decay of teeth.

Two ways to prevent decay of teeth are: first, to have children cut down on foods rich in sugar or having them rinse out the mouth with water within 10 minutes after eating foods rich in sugar; second, to have the municipality fluoridate the water supply or dentists appiy fluorides directly to the teeth.

Dr. Leroy M. Ennis, president of the American Dental Association, recommends the following fourfold program as a "practical means of providing children with sound dental health."

While this fourfold program is known to many readers, it should become a part of the daily health habits of children and adults.

1. A well-balanced diet with consumption of sweets kept as low as possible.

2. Proper tooth brushing habits that should be learned early. This means brushing the teeth within 10 minutes after eating.

3. Early detection and treatment of dental disease. This will prevent greater dental ills later on. Neglect may produce serious dental problems which will continue throughout life.

4. Either access to drinking water from a community water system containing the proper amount of fluorides for tooth decay prevention, or application of sodium fluoride to the child's teeth at periodic intervals. Children who drink fluoridated water from birth have from one-half to two-thirds less tooth decay than those who drink water containing no fluorides.

Dr. Ennis points out further that tooth decay afflicts more than 90 per cent of children of school age to make it childhood's most common disease.

Never before in its history has the dental profession been possessed of so many effective weapons to prevent and control dental diseases and diseases due to dental disease. If the preventive and control methods now known are used to their fullest extent, there is small reason for children to reach manhood and womanhood crippled by the dental disorders that have plagued their parents and grandparents.

Old Hand on the Job

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—A lot has been said about the reasons why able Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois does not want to run for president. Probably the most cogent reason is his family.

Wives have played an important part in the lives of American presidents and presidential candidates, from the days of Thomas Jefferson through Abraham Lincoln who was never happy with his wife, to the late great Arthur Vandenberg who never really wanted to run for president because of a former friendship with a lady diplomat.

There is nothing secret or unusual about Governor Stevenson's domestic problems. They are no discredit to him. He was unhappily married for many years, is now divorced, and is reported to be in love with Miss Dorothy Fosdick, daughter of the noted Baptist cleryman, Harry Emerson Fosdick. Miss Fosdick is now a member of the State Department's policy and planning board, one of the top diplomatic jobs in the nation.

But politics is a cruel business. And a man who runs for president virtually has to sacrifice children and marital happiness, to say nothing of facing the opposition of those church leaders who do not believe in divorce.

Governor Stevenson's wife was Ellen Borden of Chicago, daughter of a Chicago lawyer and no relation to the Borden milk family. Mrs. Stevenson, however, always seemed to look down her rose just a bit at marrying a boy from the corn belt, even though Adlai was the grandson of a vice president of the United States.

Poetess vs. Politician

She didn't particularly like living in downstate Bloomington, where Adlai owns an interest in the Pantagraph, of which he was once asistant editor. In Chicago she was happier. There she used to write sonnets, was considered a better than average poetess, and had a fairly good play, in verse, produced by a college theatre.

Came the election of Franklin Roosevelt in 1932 and Adlai went to Washington as special counsel to Henry Wallace's AAA, returning to Chicago after a year to practice law, then going back to Washington just before Pearl Harbor as assistant to Frank Knox, a Republican, whom FDR had made secretary of the navy.

Ellen Stevenson scoffed at returning to Washington. She complained that Adlai's friends always talked politics or economics. They didn't understand art. In fact, they didn't even know the difference between a sonnet and a canto.

She also complained that Adlai was always "assistant to somebody." He always played second fiddle. He was assistant to the secretary of the navy, later assistant to the secretary of state, and he was assistant to the U. S. delegation on establishing the United Nations. But he was never top dog.

Mrs. Stevenson did, however, like England. Adlai went to London with the U. S. economic mission toward the end of the war, and there Ellen found congenial people. They appreciated literature and she was happy.

Bleak Dinners

Finally, the day came when Adlai was no longer assistant to somebody, no longer played second fiddle. He became governor of Illinois. But that didn't seem to make her much happier.

On the day Adlai was inaugurated in Springfield, Mrs. Stevenson started out quite bravely. She was polite and gay. But before the day was over, she drooped. She was obviously bored and inclined to insult the people who trooped over her lawn and the politicians on whose cooperation her husband's career depended.

There followed dull, bleak meals at the executive mansion. Friends noticed that Adlai excused himself after dinner, retired to his study to work. Eventually, Mrs. Stevenson proposed divorce.

What the governor is reported disliking most about a presidential campaign is the effect it might have on his two boys. There's also the fact that a divorced president has never yet occupied the White House. Finally, there's the political possibility that the Catholic vote, though tolerant of an unmarried divorcee, might not be so tolerant if the governor remarried—especially if his new wife was the daughter of Harry Emerson Fosdick, an outstanding Protestant cleric.

These are some of the things that have weighed heavily on the mind of the man who still remains the top choice of most Democratic leaders and who has been the best governor of Illinois in many, many years.

Washington Pipeline

Congressional leaders now doubt they will be able to adjourn Congress before the GOP convention, July 7. Instead, both houses probably will recess July 5, come back either on August 15 or Sept. 15, to take up the unfinished business of the Senate—including a log jam of conference reports in Senator McKellar's Appropriations Committee. . . . McKellar for a time refused to let his committee act on appropriation bills, even though he was sick and could not be there. Thanks to senatorial courtesy, other committee members let him get away with it for some time. . . . Jack Kennedy, the congressman from Boston, has done a good job of jacking up the bus lines in the nation's capital, even though Washington is a long way from the city of the beans and the cod. . . . Now Queen Elizabeth finds herself in possession of what the British government believes to be the world's largest deposit of uranium. It's in northern Nigeria, is owned by the crown, and there's enough uranium to supply the western world for 20 years. . . . Vice President Barkley has reported that he hasn't been able to control the two Democratic senators from Kentucky, Clements and Underwood, on tidelands oil. It was a great surprise to the administration when they voted against the inland states, and a greater surprise when they refused to follow the friendly leadership of the veep.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

June 20, 1932—Maj. Ashton H. Hart filed his resignation as secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

Peter Cooper, 22, East Strand, was injured when his motorcycle and a car were in collision.

George Harford, driver, was burned when fire broke out at the H & R gas station, Greenkill avenue, as a truck was being filled with fuel.

The body of Frank VanWoert, 79, of Highland, who had been missing since June 7, was found on the hill to the rear of the Highland railroad station.

June 20, 1942—The unofficial Republican County Convention named A. H. Wicks, for state senator; Jay LeFevre, candidate for congressman; John F. Wadlin for the state Assembly, N. LeVan Haver for district attorney and Robert Snyder for county clerk.

A partial report on the city USO drive showed $1,000 raised.

Raymond Roberts, of Plymouth, Pa., was fatally injured when his car left the road and overturned near Highland.

The City Rationing Board moved from the third floor of the city hall to the Millard building on Prince street.

Today in Europe

Bombed Buildings and Homes Being Replaced but Morale of Western Europe Is Low

By DAVID LAWRENCE

En Route From Europe, June 20—What the bombs destroyed—the buildings and homes—is slowly but surely being replaced in western Europe by new structures better than the old ones. But what isn't being replaced is the morale of the people. Recovery is slow, while disillusionment and loss of faith keep the populace in most of the free countries in a state of stunned fear.

Fear of another war influences every thought in government and keeps the people worried and anxious. Pacifism never had more adherents than it has today in Europe and, no matter how bold the phrases of government leaders in the parliaments of Europe, they know in their hearts that their opponents can make political capital any day by appealing to sentiments of peace that amount virtually to pacifism.

Time and the growth of new generations to military age may change all this, but it cannot be denied that conscription is unpopular and that rearmament against any potential enemy is viewed with alarm.

Parallel with this attitude toward defensive armies is another residue of the war—a loss of faith in businessmen and a tendency to look with suspicion on them as selfish interests which in some countries backed dictators and stupidly helped to bring on wars.

Businessmen in all the free countries are under a heavier load of restriction than any American can imagine. But many of the businessmen are not forward-looking and have given the Socialists plenty of ammunition through their backwardness on the subject of wages and working conditions. Profits at times in the past have gone to fantastic heights as wages have been kept low. Taxation in Britain is high for business, but it is not high enough in other countries.

Curiously enough, the European businessman is not a believer in free enterprise, though he thinks he is. If you talk with him about competition, he says it is ruinous. Instinctively the European businessman favors monopolies and cartels. It is ingrained in his philosophy of operation, and that is one of the reasons why the Socialists look so cynically on "free enterprise" as a thing of the past. That's why they want the "state" to take over the monopolies and run them in the "public interest." But the "state" is just a bunch of inexperienced men with political rather than business background, and that's no solution either.

The trade unions in Europe are in worse condition than the businesses. The quality of the leadership in Great Britain is high, but in France and Italy and Germany it is very poor. Too often the unions are pawns in a political game played by Communists as well as Socialists.

Most vital to the maintenance of peace is the establishment of economic stability. Everybody concedes that the seeds of war are sown in unstable economic conditions. But stability is a difficult equilibrium to attain when selfishness can be organized into rival and conflicting groups. Selfishness isn't confined to the economic groups, either. It is strong in the very groups of politicians who profess to be the greatest champions of the people's interests. Thus, it is sometimes difficult to tell where love or party and affection for its own ideology ends and love of country begins. Too many times the Socialists in Europe give the impression that reform is more important to them than recovery and that ideology is more important than national safety.

Europe is a frightening swirl of political and economic currents. It's not surprising to find this after two world wars of devastating proportions. The wonder is that there has been as much recovery and reconstruction as appears on the surface today. It is not a situation, however, over which America need become discouraged. It is important, of course, to paint the true picture so that the nature of the job can be understood—so that impatience will not lead to abandonment of the very policies of moral and material support which the United States alone is capable of giving to a distraught Europe. As between high taxes in America, less profits and other sacrifices of a material nature, and another world war, it can hardly be doubted what the vast majority of the American people would choose when the alternatives are fully explained to them.

But an objective view of Europe and its problems, so necessary to an understanding of what policies are desirable for the United States to pursue, cannot be projected into the American political situation today. Most Europeans are resigned to the fact that only after the American presidential elections are over and a new president has been chosen can the physical power and moral force of the United States be channeled into the European problem in a renewed effort to maintain the peace of the European continent—and that means, of course, peace or war for the American people, too.

Peace in Europe doesn't depend solely on Stalin's misbehavior. It depends more on the rapidity with which the democracies can recover their own economic strength, restore their own morale as individual nations, and, above all, rebuild faith and confidence in themselves.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Vivien Kellems, of Stonington, Conn., is one of the best Republicans in the whole Republican party, one of the best authorities on the evil history of the income and withholding taxes and a fighter who mades the pretty Hollywood ham, Governor John Lodge, look precious. John Lodge is a brother of Henry Cabot Lodge, who is a Republican senator from Massachusetts and manager of the Eisenhower campaign. Descendants of old Henry Cabot Lodge, who licked Woodrow Wilson and his League of Nations, these two little Lodges have lacked the integrity to carry on as Republican Republicans and have turned into that type of political degenerate known as the me-too Republican. John Lodge lived in a world of make-believe before he became a, if you will, statesman.

Vivien Kellems has been ditched again by the Republican machine in Connecticut. John Lodge did it. Vivien aspired to the nomination for the Senate but was turned down in a form of political process, lower, if possible, than the Texas system. The Connecticut town delegates, chosen in town party caucus, meet in Hartford, the capital, and nominate the party candidates for elective office. Under the ephemeral rule of Pretty Boy Lodge, in collusion with China-Boy Henry Luce, who has a legal foot in Connecticut, the Republican convention instructed the Connecticut delegation to the Chicago convention to vote for Ike. That was no more legitimate than the Texas process which raised such a pietistical wail from the Eisenhower claque when Senator Taft won the Texas delegation at Mineral Wells. There was only one slate of candidates and Vivien's charge that this was a Hitlerian ballot was true.

But the same Connecticut convention nominated as the Republican candidate for the United States Senate one William Purtell who registered as a Republican only two years ago. Nobody had ever heard of Purtell except his own loved one, whereas Vivien Kellems is a woman of fine renown all over the country with a subscribed following of about 150,000 women who believe in her. A large number of men believe in her, too. They very well could after hearing her discuss our tax system and its menacing faults.

Intending no reflection on General Eisenhower, I think you might like to wonder why such a fellow as Luce, with his kind regards for Charlie Chaplin, Margaret Bourke-White and others of that kind, wants to nominate the general for president. China-boy has ballyhooed the faded little faker beyond the dreams of any press agent and Bourke-White, a dreary old veteran of many Red fronts, got an assignment from Life to photograph sacred intimacies of our most confidential bombers with the genial approval of Lieut. Gen. Curtis Le May, chief of the strategic air command.

Luce tossed a halter over Ike last winter. First he oat-bagged El Jefe with a picture of the disarming smile the size of a bathmat and then came the potemkin ovation at Madison Square Garden where a lot of Texas Democrats bloviated far into the night in a sudden access of the true Republican spirit. One day, we must get the Carnegie layout to put up a million to study the noisy braggadocio which prompts the milkshake Texan to tilt back his hat, drag out his drawl and act needlessly silly in New York and London whereas in Midland, Eagle Pass or Beeville he is just another muddy illiterate.

Vivien Kellems has stood under smears, ridicule and lies for years, always for a patriotic principle. During the war some rodent in the Roosevelt bureaucracy swiped some personal letters of hers out of the public mail and Drew Pearson blabbed them on the radio for some laxative. Pearson's smear was the price this good citizen had to pay for exposing the criminal conduct of the awful slobs that Roosevelt had put to the job of building up Soviet Russia to the size of our mighty enemy of today. Vivien told us how many miles of heavy, industrial copper cable and how many

Guest Ministers Scheduled Sunday In Shandaken Area

The Rev. D. George Davies, newly-appointed district superintendent of the Kingston District of the Methodist Church, will officiate at the worship services of the Shandaken Methodist Church at 11 a. m. and the Big Indian Methodist Church at 9:45 a. m. Sunday.

He was recently appointed to the Kingston District after being pastor of St. Paul's Church in Middletown since 1947.

It also was announced today that the Pine Hill Church will have its evening worship at 8 o'clock Sunday night with the Rev. Eugene L. Crabb of the Margaretville Methodist Church as the guest minister. The Rev. Mr. Crabb will conduct a service which will include picture slides and stories concerning great hymns of the church and the story of the creation.

The new superintendent and the Rev. Mr. Crabb will be filling the pulpits of Shandaken, Pine Hill and Big Indian Churches in the absence of the Rev. James H. Cox, regular pastor, who will be attending the Erie Annual Conference of the Methodist Church in Meadville, Pa., on the campus of Allegheny College.

The Rev. Mr. Cox is applying for ordination of deacon and is seeking full connections into the Erie Conference. Following the close of the conference on June 22, the Rev. Mr. Cox will return to Shandaken with Mrs. Cox and their two daughters, Sara and Rebekah.

The three churches have extended cordial invitations to all those who desire to worship with them and participate in the services which will be conducted by the guest ministers.

Two Setbacks Reported

Bonn, Germany, June 20 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's hopes of gaining quick ratification of the twin pacts to ally a rearmed West Germany with the West received two setbacks today in the upper house of parliament: Weeks—possibly months—of delay are likely because the Bundesrat insisted: 1. that ratification of the allied-West German peace contract and the associated six-nation European army treaty must await court settlement of the complex question whether it is constitutional for Germany to rearm. 2. That the Bundesrat, dominated by the Socialist opposition to the pacts, must approve the full text of both agreements and not merely the financial sections, as the Adenauer government had proposed.

To Go to Moscow

Tokyo, June 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. A. P. Kislenko, chief of the Soviet mission in Tokyo, will leave soon for Moscow, a Russian embassy spokesman said today. Diplomatic sources said Kislenko probably had been called home because of differences between Japan and Russia over whether the Soviet mission had any legal basis here, now that Japan is an independent sovereign nation. There were reports that Kislenko and his wife had obtained British visas to travel through Hong Kong, presumably en route to Moscow through Red China. The British consul refused to confirm this, saying such information was confidential.

Major Moves Are Ended

Koje Island, Korea, June 20 (AP)—The army said tonight all major shuffling of Red prisoners of war on Koje Island is completed. The Koje command, under Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, said well over 70,000 prisoners had been shifted in 11 days. This United Nations POW camp holds 80,000 captives — overwhelmingly pro-Communist.

Business Alone Remains

Miami, Fla., June 20 (AP)—Today's business session of the Imperial Council was all that remained on the program of the 78th annual Shrine convention. The council will select a convention city—expected to be New York—pass on changes in the by-laws and install new officers.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Play for All Tricks In Total Point Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Each year many of the colleges in this country take part in a national intercollegiate bridge tournament. As a first step in this contest, the college boys and girls who take part play prepared hands that test their skill.

In the hand shown today, played by all of the contestants, declarer had to show his skill by playing for an extra trick. Extra tricks are not terribly important in a total point game, but it pays to try for them when no risk is involved.

South is expected to ruff the second round of clubs and draw one round of trumps. There is no difficulty in making the contract since declarer cannot lose more than one spade, one diamond, and one club. The only problem is how to play for an eleventh trick.

South should lead a low spade from his hand and finesse dummy's ten. East wins with the king of spades and returns a diamond, but South should go up with the ace of diamonds since it is very unlikely that East has led from the king.

South continues by leading to the ace, enters his hand by ruffing a club, and ruffs a low spade in dummy. Since the queen of spades falls on this trick, South's jack becomes established. He can therefore discard dummy's diamond on the jack of spades, thus assuring 11 tricks.

This years 168 colleges in 43 states took part in the intercollegiate contest. The championship was won by John T. Harris and Richard M. Sutton, of Rice Institute, Houston, Tex.

The big colleges, which have often won in the past, were this year denied even the pleasure of capturing second place, since the runners-up were William F. Stotz, Jr., and John A. McElwain, of Middlebury College in Vermont.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., June 20—Now that the first half of the year 1952 is nearly over, income tax reckoning still leaves in its wake a raft of questions. For instance, if someone should ask about the effect of income taxes on profits, the answer would seem to be obvious. Taxes bite into profits and apparently bring about slimmer margins between sales and costs. Business tries, however, to make up for this shrinkage in profits by expanding the volume of sales.

There are also other "silver linings" to the cloud. I hate high taxes as much as any reader does, but we should realize that indirectly such taxes may have certain advantages: High taxes make us all work harder. As high taxes are hardest on retired people living on a fixed income, these higher taxes are forcing many of them to again become producers. High taxes should make us all more interested in electing a better government. High taxes may result in increased gifts to churches, hospitals and charities.

Even "excess profits" taxes have certain compensations. For example, at maximum rates, 77 cents of every dollar of excess profits may go to the government in taxes. But if the corporation decides to spend what would go into its excess profits for research, advertising, or employing more salesmen, it could do so advantageously. Every dollar of such outlay would then cost the corporation only 23 cents. Companies in a position to make use of these "thrifty" dollars might better maintain buildings and expand sales efforts.

Taxes and the Stock Market

Now, with some degree of certainty of earnings at the level where excess profits begin, there might even be a reflection thereof in higher prices for the company's shares. What would be the position of the stockholder in such a case? The higher stock prices might bring about long-term capital gains if more of the earnings are later converted into dividends.

By spending money that otherwise would go to taxes, the competitive position of the company should be improved. It should have an advantage over competitors who do not have excess profits for expansion of business out of tax money. Excess profits may well increase the advertising in newspapers and magazines.

Corporate profits provide over one-third of the income of the federal government. It is a paradox that the tax program, which eventually might be a drag on incentive, may, for a time, itself provide an incentive to expand. In addition, the government needs the success of every business it takes to continue its defense program.

Some firms, which may otherwise barely break even, may then remain in the field, due to the high level of economic activity. So the tax program, which threatens to take away with one hand, also gives advantages with the other. There is opportunity to expand and freedom to look forward to profits.

Stockholders can be sure there is no stock market behind the Iron Curtain! A stock market depends upon free enterprise by those companies whose shares are traded. Buying and selling then depends on available money and the existence of confidence in the future.

But taxation is not lacking behind the Iron Curtain! Taxes are collected in Russia so as to retard enterprise and activity. To meet the challenge of those governments, however, we must show by our actions and faith that the fuller life, offered by the free world, pays. We must maintain not only the freedom to work, save, and invest, but we must work and save and invest.

Would you throw 357 million tax dollars into HELL'S CANYON?

The government may do it for you — using your tax money to promote a giant federal power monopoly.

The plan is to spend more than a third of a billion tax dollars to build a dam and hydroelectric plant on the Snake River along the Idaho-Oregon border. The site: Hell's Canyon.

This would be a needless expense because the local electric light and power company already has offered to develop the power at no cost to American taxpayers. For more than four years the company, with the wholehearted support of its customers, has been ready with plans for a series of five dams.

But the job is held up. For there are those who want the federal government to take over electricity —as well as medicine and other businesses and services. They insist that the government develop the power even though it takes longer and costs many more millions.

Congress will make the final choice within the next few months. And these are the facts that will be considered:

If the local company does the job	If the federal government does the job
The Company and its investors will pay for it.	You and every other American taxpayer will put up the money.
It will pay about $6 million a year in local, state and federal taxes.	Little or no local, state or federal taxes will be paid.
Power produced will be shared by all with rates regulated by public commissions.	Specially favored groups will have first call on all power. Rates won't be regulated by state commissions.
All dams can be completed and power available in about 2½ years.	Six years to build one high, costly dam. Ten years to complete the project.

This is a familiar pattern followed by federal government power planners in strategic locations throughout the nation. Here in New York State the federal government wants to spend your tax dollars to redevelop additional power from the Niagara River when five tax-paying electric companies, including Central Hudson, are prepared to do the job without public funds. If the five companies are permitted to do this, upwards of $23,000,000 in additional taxes would be paid annually to support local, state and federal governments. Your taxes are high. Government encroachment in private business is one of the reasons why.

Those who want a socialistic America know that when government takes over electricity, it is a step toward the control of every business, farm and family. The time to stop the spread of socialized electricity is now. That's why we bring these facts to your attention.

Guest Ministers Scheduled Sunday In Shandaken Area

The Rev. D. George Davies, newly-appointed district superintendent of the Kingston District of the Methodist Church, will officiate at the worship services of the Shandaken Methodist Church at 11 a. m. and the Big Indian Methodist Church at 9:45 a. m. Sunday.

He was recently appointed to the Kingston District after being pastor of St. Paul's Church in Middletown since 1947.

It also was announced today that the Pine Hill Church will have its evening worship at 8 o'clock Sunday night with the Rev. Eugene L. Crabb of the Margaretville Methodist Church as the guest minister. The Rev. Mr. Crabb will conduct a service which will include picture slides and stories concerning great hymns of the church and the story of the creation.

The new superintendent and the Rev. Mr. Crabb will be filling the pulpits of Shandaken, Pine Hill and Big Indian Churches in the absence of the Rev. James H. Cox, regular pastor, who will be attending the Erie Annual Conference of the Methodist Church in Meadville, Pa., on the campus of Allegheny College.

The Rev. Mr. Cox is applying for ordination of deacon and is seeking full connections into the Erie Conference. Following the close of the conference on June 22, the Rev. Mr. Cox will return to Shandaken with Mrs. Cox and their two daughters, Sara and Rebekah.

The three churches have extended cordial invitations to all those who desire to worship with them and participate in the services which will be conducted by the guest ministers.

Three Homes Burn

Rome, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—Three farm homes caught fire yesterday after wind blew a tree limb onto a power line. Firemen said the limb short-circuited wires leading into the homes 14 miles north of Rome. No one was reported injured.

Two Setbacks Reported

Bonn, Germany, June 20 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's hopes of gaining quick ratification of the twin pacts to ally a rearmed West Germany with the West received two setbacks today in the upper house of parliament: Weeks—possibly months—of delay are likely because the Bundesrat insisted: 1. that ratification of the allied-West German peace contract and the associated six-nation European army treaty must await court settlement of the complex question whether it is constitutional for Germany to rearm. 2. That the Bundesrat, dominated by the Socialist opposition to the pacts, must approve the full text of both agreements and not merely the financial sections, as the Adenauer government had proposed.

To Go to Moscow

Tokyo, June 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. A. P. Kislenko, chief of the Soviet mission in Tokyo, will leave soon for Moscow, a Russian embassy spokesman said today. Diplomatic sources said Kislenko probably had been called home because of differences between Japan and Russia over whether the Soviet mission had any legal basis here, now that Japan is an independent sovereign nation. There were reports that Kislenko and his wife had obtained British visas to travel through Hong Kong, presumably en route to Moscow through Red China. The British consul refused to confirm this, saying such information was confidential.

Major Moves Are Ended

Koje Island, Korea, June 20 (AP)—The army said tonight all major shuffling of Red prisoners of war on Koje Island is completed. The Koje command, under Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, said well over 70,000 prisoners had been shifted in 11 days. This United Nations POW camp holds 80,000 captives — overwhelmingly pro-Communist.

Business Alone Remains

Miami, Fla., June 20 (AP)—Today's business session of the Imperial Council was all that remained on the program of the 78th annual Shrine convention. The council will select a convention city—expected to be New York—pass on changes in the by-laws and install new officers.

Play for All Tricks In Total Point Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Each year many of the colleges in this country take part in a national intercollegiate bridge tournament. As a first step in this contest, the college boys and girls who take part play prepared hands that test their skill.

In the hand shown today, played by all of the contestants, declarer had to show his skill by playing for an extra trick. Extra tricks are not terribly important in a total point game, but it pays to try for them when no risk is involved.

South is expected to ruff the second round of clubs and draw one round of trumps. There is no difficulty in making the contract since declarer cannot lose more than one spade, one diamond, and one club. The only problem is how to play for an eleventh trick.

South should lead a low spade from his hand and finesse dummy's ten. East wins with the king of spades and returns a diamond, but South should go up with the ace of diamonds since it is very unlikely that East has led from the king.

South continues by leading to the ace, enters his hand by ruffing a club, and ruffs a low spade in dummy. Since the queen of spades falls on this trick, South's jack becomes established. He can therefore discard dummy's diamond on the jack of spades, thus assuring 11 tricks.

This years 168 colleges in 43 states took part in the intercollegiate contest. The championship was won by John T. Harris and Richard M. Sutton, of Rice Institute, Houston, Tex.

The big colleges, which have often won in the past, were this year denied even the pleasure of capturing second place, since the runners-up were William F. Stotz, Jr., and John A. McElwain, of Middlebury College in Vermont.

Quads 'Doing Well'

Weymouth, Mass., June 20 (AP)—The quadruplets—a girl and three boys — born Wednesday night to 27-year-old Mrs. Marion L. Manning at the South Shore Hospital were reported by physicians as "doing very well" today. They also reported that Mrs. Manning is "fine and doing well." The quads are expected to get their first meal—glucose from a medicine dropper — sometime today.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., June 20—Now that the first half of the year 1952 is nearly over, income tax reckoning still leaves in its wake a raft of questions. For instance, if someone should ask about the effect of income taxes on profits, the answer would seem to be obvious. Taxes bite into profits and apparently bring about slimmer margins between sales and costs. Business tries, however, to make up for this shrinkage in profits by expanding the volume of sales.

There are also other "silver linings" to the cloud. I hate high taxes as much as any reader does, but we should realize that indirectly such taxes may have certain advantages: High taxes make us all work harder. As high taxes are hardest on retired people living on a fixed income, these higher taxes are forcing many of them to again become producers. High taxes should make us all more interested in electing a better government. High taxes may result in increased gifts to churches, hospitals and charities.

Even "excess profits" taxes have certain compensations. For example, at maximum rates, 77 cents of every dollar of excess profits may go to the government in taxes. But if the corporation decides to spend what would go into its excess profits for research, advertising, or employing more salesmen, it could do so advantageously. Every dollar of such outlay would then cost the corporation only 23 cents. Companies in a position to make use of these "thrifty" dollars might better maintain buildings and expand sales efforts.

Taxes and the Stock Market

Now, with some degree of certainty of earnings at the level where excess profits begin, there might even be a reflection thereof in higher prices for the company's shares. What would be the position of the stockholder in such a case? The higher stock prices might bring about long-term capital gains if more of the earnings are later converted into dividends.

By spending money that otherwise would go to taxes, the competitive position of the company should be improved. It should have an advantage over competitors who do not have excess profits for expansion of business out of tax money. Excess profits may well increase the advertising in newspapers and magazines.

Corporate profits provide over one-third of the income of the federal government. It is a paradox that the tax program, which eventually might be a drag on incentive, may, for a time, itself provide an incentive to expand. In addition, the government needs the success of every business it taxes to continue its defense program.

Some firms, which may otherwise barely break even, may then remain in the field, due to the high level of economic activity. So the tax program, which threatens to take away with one hand, also gives advantages with the other. There is opportunity to expand and freedom to look forward to profits.

Stockholders can be sure there is no stock market behind the Iron Curtain! A stock market depends upon free enterprise by those companies whose shares are traded. Buying and selling then depends on available money and the existence of confidence in the future.

But taxation is not lacking behind the Iron Curtain! Taxes are collected in Russia so as to retard enterprise and activity. To meet the challenge of those governments, however, we must show by our actions and faith that the fuller life, offered by the free world, pays. We must maintain not only the freedom to work, save, and invest, but we must work and save and invest.

The government may do it for you — using your tax money to promote a giant federal power monopoly.

The plan is to spend more than a third of a billion tax dollars to build a dam and hydroelectric plant on the Snake River along the Idaho-Oregon border. The site: Hell's Canyon.

Son—But I would take an assumed name, father.

Dad—Indeed! And supposing you were to succeed. No one then would know I was your father!"

Mrs. Black—Mrs. Smith isn't dealing with her old milkman anymore. She's angry with him.

Mrs. Brown — Did he leave spoiled milk on her doorstep?

Mrs. Black—No, he left the wrong husband there.

This time it's the absent-minded surgeon—he put his patient to sleep and cut up with his nurse.

The inebriated patriot decided he would donate some blood to the Red Cross blood bank, but in haste, he staggered into a barber shop by mistake. When the white-coated man came toward him with an open razor and said, "Open your collar, please," the patriot was cold-sober before he was a block away from the shop.

Will Make Survey

Albany, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—The State Thruway Authority and representative state officials next week will make a three-day survey of construction progress on the cross-state express highway. The authority, which inaugurated the progress tour last year, will start the inspection Monday at South Nyack, where foundation work is under way on a three-mile bridge to carry the Thruway over the Hudson river. The tour will end in Buffalo Wednesday night. The 535-mile Thruway is scheduled for completion in 1954.

Allies Return to Talks

Munsan, Korea, June 20 (AP)—Allied negotiators return to the Korean armistice conferences tomorrow (9 p. m. tonight, EST) to learn if their second walkout has convinced the Communists to change their minds. The meetings at Panmunjom have been stalled almost two months by Communist refusal to accept the allied declaration that 100,000 Red war prisoners do not want to go back to communism. Only about 70,000 prisoners have indicated a willingness to return to Red territory.

Sees Taft as Candidate

Geneva, June 20 (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, says the Republicans will nominate Sen. Taft. Humphrey told a Democratic political institute at Hobart and William Smith Colleges last night that Taft forces would have charge of the GOP convention "right down to the man who controls the air conditioning." Humphrey told a newsman later he thought Gen. Eisenhower had "disappointed his own followers" since his return from Europe by failing to "be liberal and forthright." He said Eisenhower was "getting bad advice and following it."

4,000 Attend Dinners

Philadelphia, June 20 (AP)—Four thousand hungry Pennsylvania Republicans sat down to $100-a-plate unity dinners in Philadelphia and Harrisburg last night and lustily vowed to support anyone who emerges from the GOP National Convention as the party's presidential candidate. Upwards of 2,500 party campaign contributors shed dinner coats in the oppressive heat of Philadelphia's convention hall and loudly hurrah-ed demands for "bold national leadership" made by keynote speakers from both sides of the Taft-Eisenhower political fence.

As Pegler Sees It

Diesel locomotives and how many other plans these fools were thrusting on the Kremlin. She has only begun to fight. Purtell certainly will be knocked in the crick by William Benton, a Socialist-Democrat, if he doesn't take down in favor of the only Connecticut Republican who can stand inspection on vital issues. In a head-on contest, Vivien would murder Benton. She might even lick both of them, running as an independent Republican, which is what she is fixing to do. The old goats in Hartford and Washington are begging her not to split the ticket but they pulled that on her last time and she is good and sore. They just don't want to win with a real Republican. If they did, they would nominate her.

Vivien Kellems has been flapping around in planes year after year, making speeches against the income and withholding taxes and inciting women to patriotic rebellion. Nobody knows the history of the income tax better. The real rebellion of this time is led by women. The Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., refused to pay the baby-sitters' tax. Vivien flew down to give them counsel and now Mrs. Winifred Furrh, of Marshall, reports that only 20,000 householders out of 50,000 in the Dallas internal revenue district have even filed returns under this section.

From Bethel, Vermont comes a carbon copy of a social security return, proudly sent by Lucille Miller, a rebel against the Communist invasion up there. Across the face runs the loud defi: "Go To Hell, You Cheap Parasites!" the amount was $5.07.

In Summit, Miss., Mrs. Mary D. Cain, the editor of the Weekly Sun, refused to pay social security, closed her bank account, announced that her husband wasn't responsible for her debts and dared John Snyder, the secretary of the treasury, to do something.

Senator Owen Brewster, of Maine, was one of those Republicans who soaped Vivien but always insisted that she was too radical in her conservatism. Brewster has been beaten. If the Republicans deserve the name, they should invite Vivien Kellems to address their convention in Chicago on the subject of taxation and the republic. They have no better authority.

Will Go to Chicago

Albany, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—James C. Hagerty, Gov. Dewey's secretary, will go to Chicago next week with a group of Republican leaders to help plan the party's national convention, which opens July 7. During his absence, Hagerty will be off the state's pay roll. Dewey, GOP presidential nominee in 1944 and 1948, has been an outspoken supporter of Gen. Eisenhower for the 1952 nomination.

Tuesday, 8 p. m., Dorcas Society will meet at the church hall. The committee will include Mrs. David Harris, Mrs. Martin Nilan, Mrs. Arthur Craig and Mrs. Harry Newton. Each one is requested to bring a small gift for the social hour. Thursday, 6:45 p. m., young people's choir will meet. Thursday, 7:30 p. m., senior choir rehearsal. Mrs. Alexander Maines of Kingston will direct both choirs.

Presentation Church, the Rev. Joseph Comyns, C.Ss.R., pastor—Masses at 8 and 10:30 a. m. All the youth of the parish will receive Holy Communion at the 8 a. m. Mass. Benediction of the most blessed sacrament will follow the 10:30 Mass. Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., Novena to Our Lady of Perpetual Help with sermon by the Rev. Lawrence Everetts, C.Ss.R., followed by the benediction of the most blessed sacrament and confessions. The Presentation Blanket Club will meet at the rectory after the novena. Confessions Saturday from 4:30 to 5:30 and 7 to 8:30 p. m. July 4 and 5, the annual Presentation Church fair and bazaar will be held on the church grounds. There will be various booths and refreshments will be available.

Yellow Margarine July 1

Mrs. Filbert's Margarine famous for country-fresh flavor, and a favorite with housewives here, is now yellow. Mrs. Filbert makes margarine from her own recipe, giving it homestyle care and 15,000 units of Vitamin A fortify each pound. Special flavor-tight gold-aluminum wrapping preserves the flavor. The largest space ever purchased by Mrs. Filbert will be used in local newspaper to announce that her yellow margarine is on sale July 1.

New Shrine Leader

Harvey A. Beffa of Moolah Temple, St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Beffa enjoy a piece of cake shortly after Beffa was named Imperial Potentate of the Shrine at Shrine's 78th annual convention at Miami, Fla. The new Shrine leader also celebrated his 52nd birthday—with a huge 4,885-pound cake. (AP Wirephoto).

Will Make Survey

Albany, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—The State Thruway Authority and representative state officials next week will make a three-day survey of construction progress on the cross-state express highway. The authority, which inaugurated the progress tour last year, will start the inspection Monday at South Nyack, where foundation work is under way on a three-mile bridge to carry the Thruway over the Hudson river. The tour will end in Buffalo Wednesday night. The 535-mile Thruway is scheduled for completion in 1954.

Allies Return to Talks

Munsan, Korea, June 20 (AP)—Allied negotiators return to the Korean armistice conferences tomorrow (9 p. m. tonight, EST) to learn if their second walkout has convinced the Communists to change their minds. The meetings at Panmunjom have been stalled almost two months by Communist refusal to accept the allied declaration that 100,000 Red war prisoners do not want to go back to communism. Only about 70,000 prisoners have indicated a willingness to return to Red territory.

Sees Taft as Candidate

Geneva, June 20 (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, says the Republicans will nominate Sen. Taft. Humphrey told a Democratic political institute at Hobart and William Smith Colleges last night that Taft forces would have charge of the GOP convention "right down to the man who controls the air conditioning." Humphrey told a newsman later he thought Gen. Eisenhower had "disappointed his own followers" since his return from Europe by failing to "be liberal and forthright." He said Eisenhower was "getting bad advice and following it."

4,000 Attend Dinners

Philadelphia, June 20 (AP)—Four thousand hungry Pennsylvania Republicans sat down to $100-a-plate unity dinners in Philadelphia and Harrisburg last night and lustily vowed to support anyone who emerges from the GOP National Convention as the party's presidential candidate. Upwards of 2,500 party campaign contributors shed dinner coats in the oppressive heat of Philadelphia's convention hall and loudly hurrah-ed demands for "bold national leadership" made by keynote speakers from both sides of the Taft-Eisenhower political fence.

As Pegler Sees It

Diesel locomotives and how many other plans these fools were thrusting on the Kremlin. She has only begun to fight. Purtell certainly will be knocked in the crick by William Benton, a Socialist-Democrat, if he doesn't take down in favor of the only Connecticut Republican who can stand inspection on vital issues. In a head-on contest, Vivien would murder Benton. She might even lick both of them, running as an independent Republican, which is what she is fixing to do. The old goats in Hartford and Washington are begging her not to split the ticket but they pulled that on her last time and she is good and sore. They just don't want to win with a real Republican. If they did, they would nominate her.

Vivien Kellems has been flapping around in planes year after year, making speeches against the income and withholding taxes and inciting women to patriotic rebellion. Nobody knows the history of the income tax better. The real rebellion of this time is led by women. The Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., refused to pay the baby-sitters' tax. Vivien flew down to give them counsel and now Mrs. Winifred Furrh, of Marshall, reports that only 20,000 householders out of 50,000 in the Dallas internal revenue district have even filed returns under this section.

From Bethel, Vermont comes a carbon copy of a social security return, proudly sent by Lucille Miller, a rebel against the Communist invasion up there. Across the face runs the loud defi: "Go To Hell, You Cheap Parasites!" the amount was $5.07.

In Summit, Miss., Mrs. Mary D. Cain, the editor of the Weekly Sun, refused to pay social security, closed her bank account, announced that her husband wasn't responsible for her debts and dared John Snyder, the secretary of the treasury, to do something.

Senator Owen Brewster, of Maine, was one of those Republicans who soaped Vivien but always insisted that she was too radical in her conservatism. Brewster has been beaten. If the Republicans deserve the name, they should invite Vivien Kellems to address their convention in Chicago on the subject of taxation and the republic. They have no better authority.

Will Go to Chicago

Albany, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—James C. Hagerty, Gov. Dewey's secretary, will go to Chicago next week with a group of Republican leaders to help plan the party's national convention, which opens July 7. During his absence, Hagerty will be off the state's pay roll. Dewey, GOP presidential nominee in 1944 and 1948, has been an outspoken supporter of Gen. Eisenhower for the 1952 nomination.

Rose Marie Fuscardo Weds John C. Porsch In St. Mary's Church

Miss Rose Marie Fuscardo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fuscardo, 11 Rogers street, was married to John C. Porsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Porsch, 15 Rogers street, Sunday, June 15, at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly performed the double ring ceremony. A reception for 200 guests was held at the Merry-Go-Round in Port Ewen.

The organist, Theodore Riccobono, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Martin, Kelly, soloist, in Mother Beloved and the Ave Maria. The church altar was decorated with roses and white peonies.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon tulle over Skinner satin, fashioned with panel insertions of rosepoint lace, a mandarin collar, long pointed sleeves and fitted bodice of lace over satin, hand embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her full length, lace trimmed veil was attached to a tiara of plaited lace trimmed with pearls.

Miss Colleen Baker, 22 Second avenue, was the maid of honor. Her pink strapless gown with matching stole of net over taffeta was styled with a white lace fitted bodice. She wore a matching sweetheart headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Reginald Swift, 47 German street, and Miss Doris Fuscardo, 226 East Chester street, cousins of the bride; and Mrs. Donald Quick, 43 Sterling street. They wore identical strapless gowns fashioned with eyelet basque bodices and matching stoles of net over taffeta in Nile green, yellow and lilac respectively. Matching sweetheart headpieces and colonial bouquets of roses and blue delphinium completed the ensembles.

The junior bridesmaids were Edna Mae Lowe and Patricia Clausi, cousins of the bride. They were attired in identical gowns of white net over white taffeta with matching bonnet type headpieces. They carried colonial bouquets of assorted roses and blue delphinium with colored streamers.

Robert Lane, 78 West O'Reilly street, was best man. The ushers were Reginald Swift, the bride's cousin, 47 German street; Robert Beretta, Newburgh, and Alton Cole, 17 Downs street.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. Upon their return, they will live at 55 East Chester street. For traveling, the bride was attired in a navy and white dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Porsch was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49 and is employed at P. Ballantine & Sons.

Mr. Porsch was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '47, served for three years with the U. S. Navy and is employed by the Western Electric Company.

MEETING DAUGHTER'S DATES

A mother writes me: "My twenty-year-old daughter feels that I'm wrong to make a point of meeting a young man she is dating for the first time. She says this is archaic and furthermore it proves nothing since I can't tell anything about him by meeting him. She thinks I should leave him to her own good judgment. Your opinion will be appreciated."

It would be entirely natural and proper for him to find mother and daughter both in the living room when he calls for the daughter, and daughter would then say, "Mr. Jones" (or John)—my mother!" But if her mother were elsewhere in the house, to go and fetch her just to introduce the man to her would not only be an awkward gesture, but too obviously subjecting him to her scrutiny.

Daughter as Flower Girl

Dear Mrs. Post: I am in my mid-twenties and am planning to be married for the second time. The wedding will be simple but will take place in church with one attendant. I have a four-year-old daughter and would like very much to have her take part as a flower girl. Will you please tell me if this will be proper?

Answer: It will be entirely proper—and very sweet.

Bread and Butter Letter

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to spend next weekend with a girl friend and her husband who make their permanent home with the girl's parents. My problem is, to whom should the customary bread and butter letter be sent—to my friend or to her mother?

Answer: To her mother.

Widow's Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in good taste for a widow to continue wearing her wedding ring after she has started going out with other men?

Answer: Yes. She need not take it off until she exchanges it for a second engagement ring.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. A housewarming or "open house" can be a tea, a cocktail party, a buffet supper or the simplest afternoon or evening at home. Garden Reception Follows Wedding

MRS. ADRIAN E. CABRAL

The marriage of Miss Janet M. Felten, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Felten, Saugerties, to Adrian E. Cabral, in St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, Saturday afternoon, was followed by a garden reception at the home of the bride's mother. (Jan Morgan photo)

Janet M. Felten Is Wed in Saugerties To Adrian E. Cabral

The marriage of Miss Janet M. Felten, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Felten, 63 Elm street, Saugerties, to Adrian E. Cabral, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Cabral, 1515 Lexington avenue, New York, took place Saturday at 2 p. m., in St. Mary's Church, Saugerties. The Rev. John Spillane, assistant pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A garden reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. William Plimley, organist. Frank Provenzano was the soloist. Pink and white gladioli were used for decorating the church.

Escorted by her uncle, Roland Post, 62 Downs street, the bride wore an imported Chantilly lace over taffeta gown, fashioned with a princess styled bodice having seed pearl trimming. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a sweetheart lace cap. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas, stephanotis and gypsophilia with a white orchid.

Miss Madeline Hackett, 38 Montgomery street, Saugerties, was the maid of honor. With her nile green nylon net over taffeta gown and matching headpiece, she carried a bouquet of talismen roses and gypsophilia.

James Cabral of Portsmouth, Va., was his brother's best man. Vincent Cramer, brother-in-law to the groom and Frederick Short, cousin of the bride, were the ushers.

Upon their return from a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the couple will reside at 121 Vermilyca avenue, New York. For traveling, the bride chose a white and navy print dress with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Cabral was graduated from Saugerties High School, class of '49, and is employed by the New York Telephone Co.

Mr. Cabral was graduated in January of this year from City College of the State of New York with a BBS degree and will enter Columbia School of Social work in September to work for a master's degree. He is a member of Sigma Alpha, honorary society, and Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociological fraternity. During World War 2 Mr. Cabral served for 32 months with the U. S. Navy.

Miss Ardeth Stokes, Howard C. Eckert Wed in Port Ewen

The marriage of Miss Ardeth Nadene Stokes, daughter of Mrs. Laura Stokes of Rifton, to Howard Charles Eckert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eckert, Rifton, took place Sunday, June 15, at 2 p. m. at the Port Ewen Methodist Church in Port Ewen. The Rev. D. George Davies, district superintendent of Methodist Churches, officiated at the ceremony. A reception for 130 guests was held at the Black Swan Lodge in Rifton.

Musical selections were played by Richard Torrens, organist. Leroy Davis, as soloist, sang O Promise Me and I Love Thee. White and pink peonies and yellow primroses were used to decorate the church.

Escorted by her uncle, Philip Fleischer, the bride wore a white slipper satin and embroidered lace gown. Her finger-tip length veil of illusion net was attached to a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds.

Mrs. George Stokes of, High Falls was her sister's matron of honor. She was attired in a gown of dusty rose slipper satin and embroidered lace styled with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of Briarcliff roses.

Mrs. Paul Tresvik and Mrs. Philip Stokes, the bride's sister-in-law, of Rifton, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of American beauty slipper satin and embroidered lace, fashioned with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts. Sweetheart bonnets of satin and nylon tulle and old fashioned bouquets completed their ensembles.

Carol De Martini of New York, cousin of the bride, as the flower girl was attired in a dusty rose slipper satin gown, sweetheart bonnet of satin and tulle, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of Briarcliff roses.

Julius Eckert of Wallkill was his brother's best man. Walter Bailey, cousin of the bridegroom and Philip Stokes, brother of the bride, both of Rifton, served as ushers.

The couple left for New York and upper New York state. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue suit with pink accessories and a white rose corsage.

Mrs. Eckert attended Kingston High School and is employed by the Hercules Powder Company.

Mr. Eckert was graduated from New Paltz High School and served for three and a half years during World War 2, with the U. S. Marines.

Local Concern Sell Factory Facilities

Walter W. Cummins, president of the Sport Life Manufacturing Co., Inc., announced today that he is selling manufacturing facilities on Railroad avenue and at 86 Broadway to a New York dress manufacturing concern.

Cummins said Sport Life is concentrating on a heavy type outerwear and has resettled in Pennsylvania where trained labor for such an operation is available.

The New York concern taking over, he said, will resume production immediately and all present and former employes will be interviewed for employment. Cummins said he employed about 100 in the two plants. The trade name of the New York concern was not announced.

Married in St. Joseph's Church

MRS. MICHAEL J. EIGO

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Perry, Miss Agnes Arlene Perry, was married to Michael Joseph Eigo Sunday afternoon in St. Joseph's Church. (Pennington photo)

Miss Agnes A. Perry Becomes Bride of Michael J. Eigo

Miss Agnes Arlene Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Perry, 141 Washington avenue, was married to Michael Joseph Eigo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eigo, East Kingston, Sunday, June 15, at 3 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. James V. Keating performed the double ring ceremony. A reception for 300 guests was held at The Barn.

Wedding selections were played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist. Richard Baker, as soloist, sang Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus. White gladioli and palms decorated the altars.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported French rosepoint lace fashioned with a Queen Marie neckline, bouffant skirt having ruffled tiers and terminating in a cathedral train which was lined in blush pink satin. Her hand rolled and scalloped veil of French illusion was attached to a blush pink satin cap, trimmed with satin leaves and seed pearls. She carried a prayer book with stephanotis and streamers.

Miss Josephine Perry was her sister's maid of honor. With her French, blush pink and blue dotted, net gown, styled with a portrait neckline, dancette sleeves and bouffant skirt, she wore a large picture hat of blush pink and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Lorraine Perry, sister of the bride; Josephine Becord, 40 Roosevelt avenue, and Mary Sisco, East Kingston, cousins of the bride; and Peggy Eigo of East Kingston, sister to the bridegroom. They wore pink nylon net gowns having portrait necklines and bouffant skirts styled with ruffled tiers trimmed in French lace. Pink lace shell hats and gold colored wire baskets filled with pink and yellow daisies and white pompons completed their ensembles.

Thomas Eigo, Jr., was his brother's best man. Serving as ushers were Francis McCullough and Edward McNally, cousins of the bridegroom, and Charles Guido, all of East Kingston and Anthony Alecca of Gill street.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Canada and the New England States, the couple will live wth the parents of the bride. For traveling, the bride chose a pink and gray nylon crepe dress and pink accessories.

Mrs. Eigo is employed by Perry's Taxi Service, Inc. Mr. Eigo is employed by the Moran Tugboat Company.

Record Field of 45 Golfers Play in Herdegen Memorial Saturday

Five Area Clubs Are Represented In County Meet

Hughes Defends Title Against Stellar Array

A record breaking field of 45 players, including the defending champion, the Kingston city kingpin and three club champions will tee off in the second annual Father Herdegen Memorial golf tournament Saturday at 1 p. m. at the Rip Van Winkle Country Club at Palenville.

Defending champion George Hughes, who is also the Twaalfskill champion, faces rugged opposition in the 72-hole test that winds up at Wiltwyck Golf Club on Sunday, June 29.

The tournament will be played on the schedule dates, rain or shine, with the winner recognized as county amateur champion.

The three club champions in the field are Boyer Gonzales, Woodstock Country Club; George Hughes, Twaalfskill; Leon Randall, Wiltwyck Club and city champion.

Other strong contenders will be Bill Van Aken of Wiltwyck and Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill. The field itself is strong enough to produce a dark horse winner.

Bostic in Debut

The tournament debut of young Harvey Bostic, star of the Kingston High School golf varsity, will be watched with great interest.

There are three brother combinations and two father and son tandems.

Twaalfskill's famous Boice family will be represented by three players—Alvie, Hank and Bob. Harvey and Charlie Bostic will represent Wiltwyck Club.

Maurice and Richard Davenport of High Falls and Allen and Billy Waterous of Woodstock form two potent father and son combines. Young Davenport could easily be the dark horse in the field.

The 72-hole medal test goes from Palenville to Woodstock Country Club at 10 a. m. Sunday. The third round will be played at Twaalfskill on Saturday, June 28, with the 18-hole finals at Wiltwyck the next day.

Among the late entries were Jim Mellin and Fred Allen of Woodstock; Milton Smith and Warren Nesbitt of Ellenville; Dr. Rodney Ball and Ernie Schirmer of Twaalfskill. This year's entry list represents an increase of nine players over the 1951 total.

The entries by club affiliation:

Rip Van Winkle, Palenville—Bill Kaufman.

Wiltwyck Club—Leon Randall, Harvey Bostic, Bob Cullum, Gerry Wells, Dr. Fred Holcomb, Brian Smith, J. Watson Bailey, Bob Daley, Clarence "Dubby" Raichle, Dick Davenport, Roy Vogt, Charlie Bostic, Maurice Davenport, Henry Leininger, Bill Costello, Dr. George Rifenbary, Bill Van Aken, Harold Van Aken.

Twaalfskill Club—Robert O'Reilly, Louis G. Bruhn, Dr. Douw Meyers, Charles J. Turck, Hank Boice, Charles H. Gaffney, Bob Boice, George Hughes, Ernie Schirmer, Dr. Rodney Ball.

Woodstock Country Club—Bill Stifler, Boyer Gonzales, Fred Allen, Allen Waterous, Jim Mellin, Walter Seaton, Ted King, Bill Waterous.

Shawangunk Country Club, Ellenville—Joe Blackwell, Carroll J. Schipp, Frank Bilyeu, Warren Nesbitt, Milton Smith.

The tournament will be played under USGA summer rules.

ERSKINE TWIRLS NO-HITTER, GETS $500 BONUS

THE BEGINNING OF THE END

Winners Listed In Wiltwyck Golf

Four winners in the Calloway throw-out tournament held on Ladies' Day at Wiltwyck Golf Club this week were Mrs. George Rifenbary, Mrs. John Dudyk, Mrs. Jack Feye and Mrs. Robert Daley.

The hostesses for the day were Mrs. Arthur Davis and Mrs. Frank Prior. One of the largest turnouts of the season competed in the events.

Plans for the annual Wiltwyck Women's Invitational tournament have been announced by Sylvia Leventhal, publicity chairmen of the club.

The event scheduled on Wednesday, June 25, is expected to attract entries from six area golf clubs. Luncheon guests are welcome upon reservations made no later than Saturday, June 21, by calling 1336.

Erskine Misses Perfect Game On Walk to Opposing Hurler

Hurls Second No-Hitter Of 1952 Major Season

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The boys who know baseball best have been saying for some time that when Carl Erskine learned to control the ball consistently he would be a great pitcher.

The 25-year old Brooklyn right hander from Anderson, Ind., apparently has learned that lesson. If he hasn't there were a lot of people, including the Chicago Cubs, badly fooled yesterday as he faced only 28 men while holding the Bruins hitless for a 5-0 Dodger victory.

And the only thing that kept him from pitching the first perfect game since Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox retired 27 Detroit Tigers in 1921 was a walk to opposing pitcher Willie Ramsdell in the third inning.

"The only man who couldn't have hit the ball out of the park if I'd teed it up for him," said the slim Dodger hurler.

Ramsdell, who relieved Warren Hacker in the second after the league leaders had scored four runs, has made only one hit in 16 times at bat this season.

"It was going to rain any minute," Carl explained. "I was trying to hurry it up. I threw four fast balls in a hurry and just couldn't get them over."

Sure enough, rain started falling a few minutes later and the game was held up for 45 minutes. But Erskine came back even stronger.

Erskine's feat high-lighted a day of top flight pitching performances.

Philadelphia's pint-sized Bobby Shantz racked up his 11th successive victory and his 12th of the season as the Athletics divided a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox, winning 4-1 and losing 5-4.

Allie Reynolds, the big New York Yankee righthander who shuns help from relief pitchers, hurled his third shutout of the year and his 15th consecutive complete game in blanking the Detroit Tigers, 8-0.

Ivan Delock, whose regular chore with the Boston Red Sox is relief pitching, held the St. Louis Browns to five scattered hits to record his third victory, 2-0.

Dickson Stops Giants

Little Murry Dickson of the Pittsburgh Pirates also twirled five-hit ball as the cellar-dwelling Bucs defeated the New York Giants 8-1 in an argument-studded game played under protest after the third inning. The defeat dropped the Giants five games back of the Dodgers.

Hank Edwards blasted relief pitcher Sheldon Jones for a three-run homer in the ninth to give the Cincinnati Reds a 7-4 arclight victory over the Boston Braves. In another night contest the St. Louis Cardinals bunched five tallies in the sixth for a 6-4 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies. Doubles by Hal Rice and Red Schoendienst and Cloyd Boyer's triple, were the big blows.

Washington shoved Cleveland deeper into fourth place with a 6-3 victory.

Second This Season

The no-hitter, the second in the majors this season, marked the first time the Cubs had been held hitless since Fred Toney of Cincinnati did it in 1917. The other 1952 no-hitter was turned in by Detroit's Virgil Trucks against Washington on May 15.

The Pirates backed up Dickson's pitching with an attack good for five runs in a hectic third inning. The rhubarb started when Dick Groat made his first major league hit. The single sent two runs home but an argument arose over whether outfielder George Metkovich was safe or out.

Plate umpire Babe Pinelli first called Metkovich out, then safe. The umpire claimed he changed his ruling when appraised by third base umpire Dusty Boggess that catcher Wes Westrum had dropped the throw from the outfield, which Pinelli did not see.

Dodgers-Red Sox In Little League

The second place Dodgers and third place Red Sox meet in the Little League baseball game today at Little League stadium on Manor avenue. The action is the first in the LL since Monday when the Sox upset the Yankees.

Gerlak Eliminated

A disastrous 86 in Thursday's 18-hole qualifying test at Big Springs course in Louisville eliminated Alex Gerlak, Twaalfskill pro, from the National PGA tournament.

Gerlak's 36-hole total of 164 was far off the low-qualifying score of 147. He had posted an opening day 37-41-78.

Milton Marusic, of Herkimer, who with Gerlak represented the Northeastern PGA, was among the leaders with a 139 score that bracketed him among such giants as Lloyd Mangrum, Claude Harmon and Cary Middlecoff.

Gerlak, however, was in distinguished company among the also-rans. Among the major casualties were Ed "Porky" Oliver, second in the U. S. Open last week; Chuck Klein, San Antonio; Tony Penna, Cincinnati; Clayton Heafner, Dick Metz and others.

Boys Club Tossers To Hold Workout

The Kingston Boys' Club 13-15 baseball team will practice Saturday at 1 p. m. at the Athletic field. The following players have been requested to be there: Don Purdy, Don Van Buren, Jack Thurin, Bob Smith, James Jackson, Lionel Cogen, Buddy Smith, Alo Saluste, Tom Fleming, Bob Sember, Roland Osterhoudt, Joe Thurine, John Cody, Jim Van Buren and Richard Richards.

Arrangements have already been made for a scrimmage game with the American Legion entry of the newly organized Fraternal Youth League.

Summer plans for the Boys' Club 13-15 baseball team are to enter the Recreation 13-16 league, to play other teams in the same bracket from the Kingston area, and for an occasional trip, arrange games with some of the Boys' Club teams in the northern part of the state.

The Kingston Boys' Club schedule is currently being made up. Any teams interested in playing should drop a card to the Boys' Club on 139 Greenkill Ave. or call 6940 between 1:00 and 5:00 P. M.

New Women's League Due at Bowlodrome

John Ferraro, proprietor of the Bowlodrome, has announced plans for a new 14-team women's open league to roll on Friday nights at 9 o'clock for the 1952-53 season. All teams and individuals interested in bowling in the league are invited to attend a meeting on Thursday, June 26 at 8 p. m. There are also openings for teams on the 7 p. m. Friday Classic League for next season.

Erskine Misses Perfect Game On Walk to Opposing Hurler

Hurls Second No-Hitter Of 1952 Major Season

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The boys who know baseball best have been saying for some time that when Carl Erskine learned to control the ball consistently he would be a great pitcher.

The 25-year old Brooklyn right hander from Anderson, Ind., apparently has learned that lesson. If he hasn't there were a lot of people, including the Chicago Cubs, badly fooled yesterday as he faced only 28 men while holding the Bruins hitless for a 5-0 Dodger victory.

And the only thing that kept him from pitching the first perfect game since Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox retired 27 Detroit Tigers in 1921 was a walk to opposing pitcher Willie Ramsdell in the third inning.

"The only man who couldn't have hit the ball out of the park if I'd teed it up for him," said the slim Dodger hurler.

Ramsdell, who relieved Warren Hacker in the second after the league leaders had scored four runs, has made only one hit in 16 times at bat this season.

"It was going to rain any minute," Carl explained. "I was trying to hurry it up. I threw four fast balls in a hurry and just couldn't get them over."

Sure enough, rain started falling a few minutes later and the game was held up for 45 minutes. But Erskine came back even stronger.

Erskine's feat high-lighted a day of top flight pitching performances.

Philadelphia's pint-sized Bobby Shantz racked up his 11th successive victory and his 12th of the season as the Athletics divided a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox, winning 4-1 and losing 5-4.

Allie Reynolds, the big New York Yankee righthander who shuns help from relief pitchers, hurled his third shutout of the year and his 15th consecutive complete game in blanking the Detroit Tigers, 8-0.

Ivan Delock, whose regular chore with the Boston Red Sox is relief pitching, held the St. Louis Browns to five scattered hits to record his third victory, 2-0.

Dickson Stops Giants

Little Murry Dickson of the Pittsburgh Pirates also twirled five-hit ball as the cellar-dwelling Bucs defeated the New York Giants 8-1 in an argument-studded game played under protest after the third inning. The defeat dropped the Giants five games back of the Dodgers.

Hank Edwards blasted relief pitcher Sheldon Jones for a three-run homer in the ninth to give the Cincinnati Reds a 7-4 arclight victory over the Boston Braves. In another night contest the St. Louis Cardinals bunched five tallies in the sixth for a 6-4 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies. Doubles by Hal Rice and Red Schoendienst and Cloyd Boyer's triple, were the big blows.

Washington shoved Cleveland deeper into fourth place with a 6-3 victory.

Second This Season

The no-hitter, the second in the majors this season, marked the first time the Cubs had been held hitless since Fred Toney of Cincinnati did it in 1917. The other 1952 no-hitter was turned in by Detroit's Virgil Trucks against Washington on May 15.

The Pirates backed up Dickson's pitching with an attack good for five runs in a hectic third inning. The rhubarb sharted when Dick Groat made his first major league hit. The single sent two runs home but an argument arose over whether outfielder George Metkovich was safe or out.

Plate umpire Babe Pinelli first called Metkovich out, then safe. The umpire claimed he changed his ruling when appraised by third base umpire Dusty Boggess that catcher Wes Westrum had dropped the throw from the outfield, which Pinelli did not see.

Dodgers-Red Sox In Little League

The second place Dodgers and third place Red Sox meet in the Little League baseball game today at Little League stadium on Manor avenue. The action is the first in the LL since Monday when the Sox upset the Yankees.

Gerlak Eliminated

A disastrous 86 in Thursday's 18-hole qualifying test at Big Springs course in Louisville eliminated Alex Gerlak, Twaalfskill pro, from the National PGA tournament.

Gerlak's 36-hole total of 164 was far off the low-qualifying score of 147. He had posted an opening day 37-41-78.

Milton Marusic, of Herkimer, who with Gerlak represented the Northeastern PGA, was among the leaders with a 139 score that bracketed him among such giants as Lloyd Mangrum, Claude Harmon and Cary Middlecoff.

Gerlak, however, was in distinguished company among the also-rans. Among the major casualties were Ed "Porky" Oliver, second in the U. S. Open last week; Chuck Klein, San Antonio; Tony Penna, Cincinnati; Clayton Heafner, Dick Metz and others.

Boys Club Tossers To Hold Workout

The Kingston Boys' Club 13-15 baseball team will practice Saturday at 1 p. m. at the Athletic field. The following players have been requested to be there: Don Purdy, Don Van Buren, Jack Thurin, Bob Smith, James Jackson, Lionel Cogen, Buddy Smith, Alo Saluste, Tom Fleming, Bob Sember, Roland Osterhoudt, Joe Thurine, John Cody, Jim Van Buren and Richard Richards.

Arrangements have already been made for a scrimmage game with the American Legion entry of the newly organized Fraternal Youth League.

Summer plans for the Boys' Club 13-15 baseball team are to enter the Recreation 13-16 league, to play other teams in the same bracket from the Kingston area, and for an occasional trip, arrange games with some of the Boys' Club teams in the northern part of the state.

The Kingston Boys' Club schedule is currently being made up. Any teams interested in playing should drop a card to the Boys' Club on 139 Greenkill Ave. or call 6940 between 1:00 and 5:00 P. M.

New Women's League Due at Bowlodrome

Pistol Clubs Split In Two Matches

The Saugerties Pistol Club split in two matches with the Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club yesterday on the local grounds.

After the upriver marksmen won the team match, 1284 to 1259, Kingston took a 20-shot slow fire match 946 to 936.

George Mustaparta scored a 278 in the team match to lead both sides. His teammate, James Overbaugh, broke 276 and Ben Sanford cracked 277 for Saugerties.

Overbaugh scored 199 in the slow fire test; Mustaparta 196; and Ben Sanford 198.

The scores:

Saugerties (1284)
Ben Sanford	87	96	94	277

Tree Worker Is Killed

Troy, N. Y., June 20 (AP)—Robert Mackey, Jr., 26, of Plattsburg, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell 30 feet from a tree in nearby Grafton. He was employed by Tree Preservation Inc., Elmsford.

Farewell Dinner Held for Athlete Returning to Sea

Approximately 40 friends attended a farewell dinner, Thursday in Cuneo's Restaurant, for William Ball, a former second baseman in the City League, and well-known bowler, who is returning to service in the Merchant Marine in which he was an officer during World War 2. Among those who planned the dinner are Edmund (Bud) Zoller, Andy Ball, his brother; Lieut. Ball, the guest of honor; Paul Freer, chairman of arrangements; Jimmy Morgan, one of the area's best-known baseball oldtimers with whose team he played and Eddie Murphy, president of the City League. (Freeman photo)

Y Alleys Undergo Resurfacing Work

The YMCA bowling alleys are undergoing a complete sanding and resurfacing in preparation for the coming season's league play. Work started today under Martin Hakason of Poughkeepsie who will finish the work meeting full ABC regulations.

After 40 years of bowling at the Y Hakason found the beds of the alleys still in excellent condition due to the well seasoned extra hard yellow pine and hard maple installed in those early years of bowling.

Ted Young, chairman of the bowling committee, was given power by the directors at their meeting Tuesday night to proceed with the alley renovation.

The new budget for the year 52-53 was adopted at the Tuesday meeting. It was reported that the financial drive totaled $17,334 to date and would continue until at least the $18,000 mark has been reached. Chairman James Tobin was complimented for the good work as general chairman especially for getting the general committee up to the $4000 mark which is about as high as the general committee has totaled during the past eight years.

Wednesday night Mrs. George H. DuBois inspected the major improvement in the Y kitchen and found it attractive with the new sink and sink tops and complete painting work. The dining room is being converted into four additional dormitory rooms to care for transients during the summer months.

Kiwanis Is Told Of Nutrition in Ratio to Health

The importance of good nutrition to health, happiness and efficiency was stressed by Miss Doris Gearhart, director of the Dairy Council of the Mid-Hudson Area, in a talk Thursday noon at the regular meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

With science adding years to average life expectancy, it is increasingly important to learn "how to make those years count," Miss Gearhart said. She urged her listeners to learn good nutritional habits, learn how to play and how to relax.

She warned against overweight, hurried and inadequate breakfasts, and the practice of skipping lunch.

Not for Poor Alone

Miss Gearhart also noted that malnutrition afflicts rich as well as poor. "Regardless of how much you spend for food, you can still partake of a balanced diet, she said.

The speaker explained that the Dairy Council is supported by milk dealers and producers of the Kingston, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie areas. Its purpose is to promote better health in the area by making people conscious of good food and nutrition practices.

Milk, she said is important for every member of the family, regardless of age.

The program, marking National "Milk for Health" Week, was arranged by George Silkworth of Babcock Farms. Herbert Greenwald, program chairman, introduced Miss Gearhart.

It was announced at the meeting that the Kingston Kiwanis Club was winner of the 1951 Kiwanis Achievement for the Hudson River District.

We put the price of this Buick in big type because we're proud of it.

It's the price of the six-passenger, two-door SPECIAL—ready to roll.

When you put this price against the local delivered prices of other cars that folks usually associate with Buick—you'll have a hard time finding a single one as low.

When you put this price against what you'll pay for cars with the reputation of being "lower priced"—you'll find why this Buick gives them such keen competition.

And—if you want to go in for extras—you can still add up what goes on the bill of sale of other cars and a Buick—you'll find out that Buick's an even greater buy.

We know that price is important to a lot of folks, especially with the price of groceries—and even baby shoes—where they are today.

But you also want some fun for your money—and that's where a Buick really shines.

Just wait till you give a gentle nudge to the power that's under that big, broad hood and feel your shoulders sink back as this beauty takes off.

You'll feel like the million dollars it cost to perfect its ride, when you sample the steady smoothness of its gait.

It's eager, alert, alive—makes each mile a new experience.

Want to try it? Why not? We're willing to let this beauteous bundle of high-powered energy speak for itself.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Sure is true for '52

Lively Lady Heads Goshen Opening

Goshen—Lively Lady, a brown filly by Nibble Hanover, will be one of the ladies to watch when Historic Track opens its 1952 Grand Circuit harness racing program here on Monday, June 30.

Owned by Walnut Hall Stud and leased by Henry and Robert Critchfield of the Gay Acres Stables of Wooster, Ohio, Lively Lady is entered in Historic's $8,000 Acorn Stake.

Lively Lady scored her third victory in 11 days by taking the winner's share in the Old Westbury Two-Year-Old Trot at Roosevelt this week.

To date, the slick young gal of the trotting world has won $9,585.

She has been clocked in 2:10.1, the fastest mile for a two-year-old at Roosevelt this year.

Pistol Clubs Split In Two Matches

The Saugerties Pistol Club split in two matches with the Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club yesterday on the local grounds.

After the upriver marksmen won the team match, 1284 to 1259, Kingston took a 20-shot slow fire match 946 to 936.

George Mustaparta scored a 278 in the team match to lead both sides. His teammate, James Overbaugh, broke 276 and Ben Sanford cracked 277 for Saugerties.

Overbaugh scored 199 in the slow fire test; Mustaparta 196; and Ben Sanford 198.

The scores:

Saugerties (1284)

Ben Sanford	87	96	94	277

Farewell Dinner Held for Athlete Returning to Sea

Approximately 40 friends attended a farewell dinner, Thursday in Cuneo's Restaurant, for William Ball, a former second baseman in the City League, and well-known bowler, who is returning to service in the Merchant Marine in which he was an officer during World War 2. Among those who planned the dinner are Edmund (Bud) Zoller, Andy Ball, his brother; Lieut. Ball, the guest of honor; Paul Freer, chairman of arrangements; Jimmy Morgan, one of the area's best-known baseball oldtimers with whose team he played and Eddie Murphy, president of the City League. (Freeman photo)

Y Alleys Undergo Resurfacing Work

The YMCA bowling alleys are undergoing a complete sanding and resurfacing in preparation for the coming season's league play. Work started today under Martin Hakason of Poughkeepsie who will finish the work meeting full ABC regulations.

After 40 years of bowling at the Y Hakason found the beds of the alleys still in excellent condition due to the well seasoned extra hard yellow pine and hard maple installed in those early years of bowling.

Ted Young, chairman of the bowling committee, was given power by the directors at their meeting Tuesday night to proceed with the alley renovation.

The new budget for the year 52-53 was adopted at the Tuesday meeting. It was reported that the financial drive totaled $17,334 to date and would continue until at least the $18,000 mark has been reached. Chairman James Tobin was complimented for the good work as general chairman especially for getting the general committee up to the $4000 mark which is about as high as the general committee has totaled during the past eight years.

Wednesday night Mrs. George H. DuBois inspected the major improvement in the Y kitchen and found it attractive with the new sink and sink tops and complete painting work. The dining room is being converted into four additional dormitory rooms to care for transients during the summer months.

Kiwanis Is Told Of Nutrition in Ratio to Health

The importance of good nutrition to health, happiness and efficiency was stressed by Miss Doris Gearhart, director of the Dairy Council of the Mid-Hudson Area, in a talk Thursday noon at the regular meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

With science adding years to average life expectancy, it is increasingly important to learn "how to make those years count," Miss Gearhart said. She urged her listeners to learn good nutritional habits, learn how to play and how to relax.

She warned against overweight, hurried and inadequate breakfasts, and the practice of skipping lunch.

Not for Poor Alone

Miss Gearhart also noted that malnutrition afflicts rich as well as poor. "Regardless of how much you spend for food, you can still partake of a balanced diet, she said.

The speaker explained that the Dairy Council is supported by milk dealers and producers of the Kingston, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie areas. Its purpose is to promote better health in the area by making people conscious of good food and nutrition practices.

Milk, she said is important for every member of the family, regardless of age.

The program, marking National "Milk for Health" Week, was arranged by George Silkworth of Babcock Farms. Herbert Greenwald, program chairman, introduced Miss Gearhart.

It was announced at the meeting that the Kingston Kiwanis Club was winner of the 1951 Kiwanis Achievement for the Hudson River District.

That's right!

*This is the local delivered price for the Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan
MODEL 48D (Illustrated)
Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

WE put the price of this Buick in big type because we're proud of it.

It's the price of the six-passenger, two-door SPECIAL—ready to roll.

When you put this price against the local delivered prices of other cars that folks usually associate with Buick—you'll have a hard time finding a single one as low.

When you put this price against what you'll pay for cars with the reputation of being "lower priced"—you'll find why this Buick gives them such keen competition.

And—if you want to go in for extras—you can still add up what goes on the bill of sale of other cars and a Buick—you'll find out that Buick's an even greater buy.

We know that price is important to a lot of folks, especially with the price of groceries—and even baby shoes—where they are today.

But you also want some fun for your money—and that's where a Buick really shines.

Just wait till you give a gentle nudge to the power that's under that big, broad hood and feel your shoulders sink back as this beauty takes off.

You'll feel like the million dollars it cost to perfect its ride, when you sample the steady smoothness of its gait.

It's eager, alert, alive—makes each mile a new experience.

Want to try it? Why not? We're willing to let this beauteous bundle of high-powered energy speak for itself.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

DRAWBRIDGE PROTECTS UN GUARDS ON KOJE—Borrowing a device from medieval days, UN guards on Koje Island make use of the centuries-old drawbridge for protection. In inset, relief guard advances and is recognized by guard in tower. Drawbridge is then lowered over barbed-wire entanglements, and guards change place. The bridge is insurance against sneak attack by escaped POW's, or against any charge against the tower in force.

General Will Be

the precinct conventions were swamped with "overnight Republicans" who were really New Deal Democrats trying to muscle in and take over the conservative state GOP organization.

Old Guard Contention

The Old Guard contends that Eisehower's backers advertised that voters did not have to be bona fide Republicans to take part in Republican conventions. The Eisenhower people will take evidence to Chicago designed to show that in some instances the Taft Republicans did not show up at county conventions, called under the law, but held rump sessions later.

Essentially, the dispute pivots on the question: What constitutes a Republican in Texas?

It is not an easy one to answer. Many Republicans in the past have openly taken part in Democratic affairs on the state level, but continued to vote the Republican ticket in national elections.

The last legislature completely rewrote the election code but it has not been fully and clearly interpreted in the courts. Both sides use it to support their claims that they are true Republicans who conducted their conventions legally.

Moreover, the State Supreme Court recently ruled, 5-4, that the Taft-Eisenhower delegate fight was a Republican family fuss over which it had no jurisdiction. The court said the party itself must settle it. This was a defeat for the Eisenhower people who had asked the court to nullify Taft conventions held in six major cities.

In the final analysis, the Republican National Committee, and then perhaps the convention as a whole, may have to define the qualifications for being a Texas Republican.

Assaults Are Resumed

Seoul, June 20 (AP)—Chinese Communists, striking behind a heavy artillery barrage, resumed their assaults late tonight on strategic T-Bone Hill, 50 miles north of Seoul. The Communists had broken off the attacks Wednesday after suffering at least 2,000 casualties in six days of futile slugging. The allied positions on part of the hill dominate one invasion road to Seoul. A brief front line dispatch said only that the Chinese had launched another attack just before midnight. It did not give the size of the attacking force. The Reds previously had used about 750 men in each attack.

$55,000 Estate Left

New York, June 20 (AP)—An estate of $55,000 was left by Mrs. Marion G. Robbins, the slain "merry widow" of Greenwich Village. She left no will, surrogate court records disclosed yesterday, and the money will go to her two grown sons. Mrs. Robbins, 54, was strangled in her apartment June 10. Ex-convict John M. Mahoney, 48, a drinking partner, is charged with slaying her. Police quoted him as saying he strangled the woman because "she wouldn't let me love her."

Taft Says General

from the Kansas town several weeks ago.

Taft first read from a prepared text in which he expounded his own views and decried "me-tooism" in politics and "New Deal" Republicans.

It was during the question-and-answer part of the program that he blasted away at Eisenhower.

Following his speech, Taft was interviewed by Vance Johnson of the San Francisco Chronicle, Ruth Montgomery of the New York Daily News, Paul Jones of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, and Victor Reisel, syndicate writer. The questions of the four reporters were not rehearsed before the program.

On questions concerning his and Eisenhower's domestic policy views, Taft said:

"On domestic policy, it seems to me he's right. I think Gen. Eisenhower, since he's gone back, on most of these tough questions has gradually come around almost to the position which I have occupied and really established for the Republican party in the past."

Asked what he thought about Eisenhower's attitude toward the Far East, Taft said:

"It is very difficult to tell because (he) has not expressed his opinion about the Far East, as far as I can find, except that he condemned the loss of China in very general terms, refusing to name names like General (George C.) Marshall who were among those responsible for that loss of China."

In answer to other queries, Taft said he does not believe Eisenhower understands the Taft-Hartley Act, but "I fell he is hostile to the law."

Taxes 'Marked Off'

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Senator Williams (R-Del.) said today the treasury failed for years to collect delinquent income taxes from racketeers Frank Costello and Philip Kastel and has now "marked off" $315,156 of taxes due from Kastel.

City Judge . . .

scheduled to meet with Judge Mino at 3:30 p. m., today for an explanation and discussion of operation details of the new bureau.

May Use Mail

Under the new system the publice may dispose of various parking violations through the mail. Under present regulations only penalties for parking meter violations are accepted by mail.

Serving the new bureau, besides the police chief, will be Lieutenants William Leonard and James Martin, and Sergeants Lemuel Howard, Robert Murphy, William Messing and Robert Cullum.

DRAWBRIDGE PROTECTS UN GUARDS ON KOJE—Borrowing a device from medieval days, UN guards on Koje Island make use of the centuries-old drawbridge for protection. In inset, relief guard advances and is recognized by guard in tower. Drawbridge is then lowered over barbed-wire entanglements, and guards change place. The bridge is insurance against sneak attack by escaped POW's, or against any charge against the tower in force.

General Will Be

the precinct conventions were swamped with "overnight Republicans" who were really New Deal Democrats trying to muscle in and take over the conservative state GOP organization.

Old Guard Contention

The Old Guard contends that Eisehower's backers advertised that voters did not have to be bona fide Republicans to take part in Republican conventions. The Eisenhower people will take evidence to Chicago designed to show that in some instances the Taft Republicans did not show up at county conventions, called under the law, but held rump sessions later.

Essentially, the dispute pivots on the question: What constitutes a Republican in Texas?

It is not an easy one to answer. Many Republicans in the past have openly taken part in Democratic affairs on the state level, but continued to vote the Republican ticket in national elections.

The last legislature completely rewrote the election code but it has not been fully and clearly interpreted in the courts. Both sides use it to support their claims that they are true Republicans who conducted their conventions legally.

Moreover, the State Supreme Court recently ruled, 5-4, that the Taft-Eisenhower delegate fight was a Republican family fuss over which it had no jurisdiction. The court said the party itself must settle it. This was a defeat for the Eisenhower people who had asked the court to nullify Taft conventions held in six major cities.

In the final analysis, the Republican National Committee, and then perhaps the convention as a whole, may have to define the qualifications for being a Texas Republican.

Assaults Are Resumed

Seoul, June 20 (AP)—Chinese Communists, striking behind a heavy artillery barrage, resumed their assaults late tonight on strategic T-Bone Hill, 50 miles north of Seoul. The Communists had broken off the attacks Wednesday after suffering at least 2,000 casualties in six days of futile slugging. The allied positions on part of the hill dominate one invasion road to Seoul. A brief front line dispatch said only that the Chinese had launched another attack just before midnight. It did not give the size of the attacking force. The Reds previously had used about 750 men in each attack.

$55,000 Estate Left

New York, June 20 (AP)—An estate of $55,000 was left by Mrs. Marion G. Robbins, the slain "merry widow" of Greenwich Village. She left no will, surrogate court records disclosed yesterday, and the money will go to her two grown sons. Mrs. Robbins, 54, was strangled in her apartment June 10. Ex-convict John M. Mahoney, 48, a drinking partner, is charged with slaying her. Police quoted him as saying he strangled the woman because "she wouldn't let me love her."

Taft Says General

from the Kansas town several weeks ago.

Taft first read from a prepared text in which he expounded his own views and decried "me-tooism" in politics and "New Deal" Republicans.

It was during the question-and-answer part of the program that he blasted away at Eisenhower.

Following his speech, Taft was interviewed by Vance Johnson of the San Francisco Chronicle, Ruth Montgomery of the New York Daily News, Paul Jones of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, and Victor Reisel, syndicate writer. The questions of the four reporters were not rehearsed before the program.

On questions concerning his and Eisenhower's domestic policy views, Taft said:

"On domestic policy, it seems to me he's right. I think Gen. Eisenhower, since he's gone back, on most of these tough questions has gradually come around almost to the position which I have occupied and really established for the Republican party in the past."

Asked what he thought about Eisenhower's attitude toward the Far East, Taft said:

"It is very difficult to tell because (he) has not expressed his opinion about the Far East, as far as I can find, except that he condemned the loss of China in very general terms, refusing to name names like General (George C.) Marshall who were among those responsible for that loss of China."

In answer to other queries, Taft said he does not believe Eisenhower understands the Taft-Hartley Act, but "I fell he is hostile to the law."

Taxes 'Marked Off'

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Senator Williams (R-Del.) said today the treasury failed for years to collect delinquent income taxes from racketeers Frank Costello and Philip Kastel and has now "marked off" $315,156 of taxes due from Kastel.

St. John's Troops Receive Awards at Banquet

Awards were made at a special ceremony following the annual mother-daughter banquet for Girl Scouts troops 5, 7, and 11, sponsored by St. John's Church, on Thursday evening. The ceremonies took place in St. John's parish hall.

Lange Asks City Watch Youths in Area Near Dock

Herman Lange, of the U. S. Coast Guard in charge of the Kingston Point lighthouse, yesterday asked the police to give the former Day Line dock at the Point some attention after reporting that he had rescued boys drifting on rubber tubes.

The report at 4:57 p. m., said high winds carried the youngsters out into the river and he was afraid they would get out in the channel and into the course of river boats.

Lange said he had rescued two boys Wednesday and the practice was repeated yesterday. He asked the police to patrol the area of the dock and prevent the boys from diving and swimming there.

Says Car Hit Boy

E. L. Beck, of R.D. 4, reported to the sheriff's office at 9:15 p. m. Thursday that his three and one-half year old son was struck and thrown into a ditch by a truck passing near his home on Route 32. Beck said the driver "stopped, looked at the boy, said he wasn't hurt and departed without leaving his name or other information." The boy was later taken to a doctor and treated for cuts and bruises, Beck reported.

Dump Fire Reported

Firemen from Cornell station were fighting another dump fire on the grounds in the Devil's Lake area at Freeman press time. The call was at 11:36 a. m. The city began dumping in the area several days ago and quit after further permission was denied. Firemen quenched a fire on the dump Wednesday after several hours of effort.

Beaten to Death

New York, June 20 (AP)—Two thugs beat up a man about 60 years old, stole his suit and shoes and left him dead on a Brooklyn sidewalk early today. A woman resident of the neighborhood told police she heard a cry for help and then saw two Negroes beat the unidentified man and run off with his suit and shoes at 1:30 a. m. (EST).

To Elect Officers

Spring Lake, N. J., June 20 (AP)—The New York State Bankers Association will elect new officers today as it opens its 56th annual convention. Other highlights on the opening day of the two-day session will be a discussion on trust investments and a talk on the impact of the steel decision on our constitutional form of government.

Wedding Ring Found

Stewiacke, N. S. (AP)—A gold wedding ring lost on a farm here 32 years ago was found in a garden by 8-year-old Beverly MacKay. It belonged to a grand-aunt of the child, who lost it while preparing to move with her husband to Alberta in 1920.

Storm Hits Jersey

Newark, N. J., June 20 (AP)—A swift and violent thunderstorm, accompanied by furious wind gusts, tore through portions of north Jersey yesterday, knocking down trees, causing power failure and literally raising the roof. Essex and Morris counties were hardest hit by the storm that lasted little more than a half hour. Winds reached up to 63 miles an hour.

Program Is Offered

Paris, June 20 (AP)—France offered her riot-torn North African protectorate of Tunisia a five-point program of home rule today but said she would keep a strong voice in the government. The plan was designed to quiet Tunisian Nationalists whose agitation for greater self-government has plunged the protectorate into a series of bloody riots since January.

Two More Fires

manded a grand jury investigation to determine whether bribery was a factor in failing to enforce safety regulations in the tenement.

Frank Peer Beal, president of the Councils, said the investigation "should be as far-reaching as the recent police department investigation."

The two new fires today were described by Chief City Fire Marshal Martin Scott as "obviously set."

"It is possible the same person set all three," he told newsmen.

The Honig tenement fire was believed by police and firemen to have possibly been the work of an arsonist, but the cause has not been determined officially.

Three Blocks Away

One of today's fires was in a building only three blocks from the Honig tenement, at 2 a. m. (EST), and the other was about a mile away at 3 a. m. (EST).

Authorities said they had talked with a former disgruntled tenant named by Mrs. Honig yesterday as a man who had threatened to burn her properties, but that they had found no basis for holding him.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri told newsmen last night that the highest possible bail would be sought for Mrs. Honig. The mayor conferred on the tragic blaze with several municipal department heads.

The police blotter entry accused the woman of causing the deaths "through her culpable negligence."

Violation Is Charged

City authorities charged that the building was used for more than three families in violation of the law, and that Mrs. Honig had not complied with instructions to install fire escapes and fire walls.

For hours after she surrendered yesterday, Mrs. Honig kept moaning "I didn't kill anybody."

Police and fire marshals continued investigation of the possibility of arson.

Mrs. Honig gave police the name of a disgruntled former tenant in one of her houses who she said may have set the fire. She said the man—whose name was withheld by police—tried to stab her several weeks ago and threatened to burn down her houses and kill her.

The housing department yesterday closed a Harlem rooming house owned by Mrs. Honig, on the ground of fire hazards. Authorities said she had been fined previously for housing violations.

Bus Drivers Strike

New York, June 20 (AP)—The Carey Transportation Company, which operates more than 50 buses daily to transport airline passengers from Manhattan to LaGuardia Field and Idlewild Airport, was struck today by 300 union drivers. The union has demanded a raise to $2 an hour from the present rate of $1.67.

Apple Orchards

brought serious sheet erosion on rolling fields of sweet corn.

The earlier heavy rains this spring necessitated some re-planting of corn that had been drowned out, the agents said, and probably the total acreage of corn will be slightly less than last year's.

Big Hay Crop

The county has had an exceptionally large hay crop, and haying was able to progress at a very good rate during the 16 rainless days from June 1 to 17, it was reported. The oat crop, on the other hand, will be relatively light because wet weather at oat planting time prevented many from getting it into the ground.

Pastures generally are in excellent condition, the agents reported.

Showing how nature can quickly reverse men's plans, this story was told at the Farm Bureau office today: On Tuesday, following the 16-day dry spell, Associate Agent Guzewich visited an area farmer who was using a pump to irrigate his fields. The next day Guzewich returned to the same farm and found the same farmer using the same pump—to pump the water off his flooded fields.

Plea Changed

George F. Gardiner, 47, of 30 Fairmont avenue, who was arrested last March 10 on Washington avenue, on a charge of driving while intoxicated, pleaded guilty to reckless driving before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today, and was sentenced to 50 days in jail or a fine of $50. The fine was paid. The plea to the lesser charge was on consent and recommendation of the district attorney's office represented by Attornel John Larkin. Attorney Charles Gaffney appeared for the defendant.

Lange Asks City Watch Youths in Area Near Dock

Herman Lange, of the U. S. Coast Guard in charge of the Kingston Point lighthouse, yesterday asked the police to give the former Day Line dock at the Point some attention after reporting that he had rescued boys drifting on rubber tubes.

The report at 4:57 p. m., said high winds carried the youngsters out into the river and he was afraid they would get out in the channel and into the course of river boats.

Lange said he had rescued two boys Wednesday and the practice was repeated yesterday. He asked the police to patrol the area of the dock and prevent the boys from diving and swimming there.

Says Car Hit Boy

E. L. Beck, of R.D. 4, reported to the sheriff's office at 9:15 p. m. Thursday that his three and one-half year old son was struck and thrown into a ditch by a truck passing near his home on Route 32. Beck said the driver "stopped, looked at the boy, said he wasn't hurt and departed without leaving his name or other information." The boy was later taken to a doctor and treated for cuts and bruises, Beck reported.

Dump Fire Reported

Firemen from Cornell station were fighting another dump fire on the grounds in the Devil's Lake area at Freeman press time. The call was at 11:36 a. m. The city began dumping in the area several days ago and quit after further permission was denied. Firemen quenched a fire on the dump Wednesday after several hours of effort.

Beaten to Death

New York, June 20 (AP)—Two thugs beat up a man about 60 years old, stole his suit and shoes and left him dead on a Brooklyn sidewalk early today. A woman resident of the neighborhood told police she heard a cry for help and then saw two Negroes beat the unidentified man and run off with his suit and shoes at 1:30 a. m. (EST).
